fired a shot at President Ford Monday, but the President escaped unharmed in the second assassination attempt against him in 17 days. Police said they had picked her up with a gun the day before and she was questioned by the Secret Service which had her on a "questionable list."

A woman identified as Sarah Jane Moore was immediately wrestled to the ground and arrested. She was later arraigned on a charge of attempting to kill the President and ordered held on $500,000

An affidavit signed by FBI Agent Parks H. Stearn Jr submitted to the court said that after being advised of certain constitutional rights Miss Moore admitted to another agent "that she did, in fact, fire the shot in question, that she had purchased the seized revolver this date, and she had observed Ford coming out of the St. Francis Hotel, and was surprised that she had so much time.'

The White House said the President was not wearing the bullet-proof vest he wore in New Hampshire in his first public outing after an attempt on his life by a follower of Charles Manson in Sacramento

The White House also said there was no change in the President's plans to visit the Midwest early next month but that he had not decided whether to accept an invitation by California Republicans to address two fund-raising events there late next

Ford was emerging from the St. Francis Hotel in midafternoon when the shot rang out from a crowd of onlookers San Francisco police said the gun was deflected by a spectator.

Police said Mrs Moore was about 35 to 40 feet away from Ford when she fired. They said she was an activist in a number of leftist causes in the Bay Area, including a massive food giveaway last year intended to help secure the release of kidnaped heiress Patricia Hearst.

When the shot was fired, the cheers of the crowd turned suddenly to screams. Ford and a circle of Secret Service agents around him looked across the roof of his limousine in the direction of the shots.

On his arrival at the White House, Ford commented on the second attempt on his life and stated that "under no circumstances will I capitulate." He said he would continue to mingle with the people. Ford, his wife at his side, said he was glad to be safely home at the White House. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mrs. Rockefeller greeted the Fords on their return

The San Francisco incident led to calls in Congress for a change in Ford's style of campaigning and meeting the people. But the President's words indicated he would continue

Police said an alert spectator, Oliver Sipple, a 33year-old ex-Marine from San Francisco, was responsible for striking the gun just as it fired. The bullet ricocheted and struck another onlooker, injuring him slightly.

A police officer, Tim Hettrich, then seized the cylinder of the 38-calibre revolver, preventing it from discharging a second time. "It was probably the most frightening thing that ever happened to me," Hettrich, 26, recalled later.

"I was approximately five feet away — five or seven feet away - from a woman who brought her right arm up and extended it, and as she did so I observed a chrome-plated revolver in her right hand," he said. "She fired a shot in the vicinity, in the direction of the President.

Dressed in a dark blue raincoat, her head bowed. Mrs. Moore was taken from police headquarters about four hours after the incident and transferred to the federal building here for arraignment.,

Police said Mrs. Moore was born in Charleston, Va., and lived in the city's primarily residential Mission District.

An official of the Delancey Street Foundation, which helped administer the $2 million People in Need program, said a Sarah Moore had worked in its office as a bookkeeper.

Earlier in the day, just seven minutes before Ford was to begin his first of two addresses at downtown hotels, a young man identified as Ronald Carlo, 24, of San Francisco, was taken into custody and booked on suspicion of threatening the life of the President.

Agents said Carlo had attempted to deliver a threatening note to an employe of the St. Francis Hotel, a short distance from the Hyatt and the second stop on Ford's one-day visit to the city.

Carlo first approached a cashier at the St. Francis with a vaguely worded, hand-printed note that contained a threat on the President's life, said White House Press Secretary Bill Greener

When the cashier went to summon aid, the man left. Greener said. He later approached a doorman at the hotel and made a threatening comment, Greener said. The doorman reported the threat to Secret Service agents and the man was apprehended in Union Square.

By GORDON WINTERS Star Staff Writer

"In part" because of the discovery Monday of 13-year-old Jon Simpson's body, investigators are following a "couple" of new leads in the Jacob Surber-Jon Simpson case.

Lancaster County Atty. Ron Lahners withheld further information on the leads, telling reporters "the leads may take us into areas in which we would not want people forewarned "

Despite the leads, Lahners said discovery of the badly decomposed body in a railroad hopper car at Gooch's Mill. 540 South St., "hasn't been as much help as I hoped it would have been.

Earlier Lahners had said he hoped that learning the fate of the Simpson boy would help solve the mystery that has surrounded the case since the boys disappeared after an Aug. 30 State Fair outing. On Sept. 8, 12year-old Jacob Surber's body was found in a dirt drainage ditch near the fairgrounds. An autopsy on the Simpson youth's body revealed that he died of "several" stab wounds to the chest, Lahners said. Investigators were not able to determine the cause, time or place of the Surber boy's death

The boxcar in which the body was found was parked from Aug 29 to Sept. 3 on a siding four blocks from the spot where the Surber boy's body was found. Lahners said.

The car then went to Omaha, where repair work was done on the outside of the car. It was returned to Lincoln last week and apparently taken to Gooch's over the weekend.

Lahners said the body was clothed except for a tank-top shirt found nearby in the boxcar.

He said the prliminary autopsy report showed the youth had been dead a "considerable length of time," perhaps since Aug. 30, the day the two boys disappeared.

He said doctors were unable to determine if the youth was sexually assaulted. Investigators have speculated that sex may have been a motive in the case.

Lahners refused to reveal the exact number of times the youth had been stabbed, telling reporters that information was "an integral part of the investigation. It's value would be rendered useless if I gave it."

Lahners said investigation had not yet revealed whether Simpson was dead when he entered again will search the area where the boxcar was parked from Aug. 29 to Sept. 3, although he described the area as having been well covered.

The murder weapon, which Lahners said could have been any sharp instrument, has not been found.

The boxcar was parked about four blocks east of the drainage ditch alongside the Burlington Northern railroad tracks where the Surber boy's body was found.

Although the streets do not cross the tracks, Surber's body was found at about 16th and the boxcar was located at about 20th, Lahners said.

Because both youths disappeared together, because of the closeness of the Surber boy and the boxcar and because Simpson's death has been established as a homicide, Lahners said "it would be my feeling that we have a double homicide."

Peery Evidence Required

By NANCY HICKS Star Staff Writer

 Unless the county attorney's office can come up with more concrete evidence within 15 days, the murder charge against Wesley H. Peery will be dismissed, Judge Samuel Van Pelt ruled Monday.

Peery was charged with first degree murder in connection with the June 6 shooting death of Havelock Coin Shop operator Mrs. Marianne Mitzner.

The 50-year-old Peery appeared in County Court July 17 for a preliminary hearing on the murder charge, and Judge Jeffre Cheuvront ruled that there was sufficient evidence showing that Peerv had "probably" committed the murder (probable cause).

Van Pelt reversed that lower court's probable cause decision, stating "there is not probable cause to believe that the defendant committed the crimes charged."

However. Van Pelt also ruled that there is a "strong nossibility" that Peery committed the crime, and gave the prosecution 15 days to file new information in the case. If no new information is filed.

the charges against Peerv will be dismissed, the judge ruled. "The state is not through with the Peery case," said County Atty. Ron Lahners late Monday afternoon. His office is looking into the possibility of appealing Van Pelt's decision or filing a new murder charge against Peery.

The major pieces of evidence presented during the preliminary hearing are not strong enough to show that Peery "probably" committed the murder, but do show that he "possibly" did, according to the ruling.

The evidence included a rag. coins, and Peery's presence in the Havelock area the morning of the murder.

The rag was identified as the kind used in the maintenance department boiler room at Nebraska Wesleyan University, where Peery was employed.

Testimony showed that the coins were "similar to" certain coins missing from the coin shop after the murder. The defendant was also placed one block away from the coin shop one-half hour or more before the time of death

A 36-year-old acquaintance of Peery has also been questioned about the murder of Mrs. Mitzner, Lahners verified, But the man, who also worked as a Wesleyan maintenance man at the time of the shooting, was not connected with the shooting itself, Lahners said. "We haven't closed the case. or ruled out that this man might have had some connection with the case," Lahners added. The man is currently being held on a sexual assault charge in the County-City Jall

· Unless the county attorney's office can come up with more concrete evidence within 15 days, the murder charge against Wesley H. Peery will be dismissed, Judge Samuel Van Pelt ruled Monday.

Peery was charged with first degree murder in connection with the June 6 shooting death of Havelock Coin Shop operator Mrs. Marianne Mitzner.

The 50-year-old Peery appeared in County Court July 17 for a preliminary hearing on the murder charge, and Judge Jeffre Cheuvront ruled that there was sufficient evidence showing that Peery had "probably" committed the murder (probable cause).

Van Pelt reversed that lower court's probable cause decision, stating "there is not probable cause to believe that the defendant committed the crimes

However, Van Pelt also ruled that there is a "strong possibility" that Peery committed the crime, and gave the prosecution 15 days to file new information in the case. If no new information is filed, the charges against Peery will be dismissed, the judge ruled. "The state is not through with the Peery case," said County Atty. Ron Lahners late Monday afternoon. His office is looking into the possibility of appealing Van Pelt's decision or filing a new murder charge against Peery.

The major pieces of evidence presented during the preliminary hearing are not strong enough to show that Peery "probably" committed the murder, but do show that he "possibly" did, according to the ruling.

The evidence included a rag, coins, and Peery's presence in the Havelock area the morning of the murder.

The rag was identified as the kind used in the maintenance department boiler room at Nebraska Wesleyan University, where Peery was employed.

Testimony showed that the coins were "similar to" certain coins missing from the coin shop after the murder. The defendant was also placed one block away from the coin shop one-half hour or more before the time of death.

A 36-year-old acquaintance of Peery has also been questioned about the murder of Mrs. Mitzner, Lahners verified. But the man, who also worked as a Wesleyan maintenance man at the time of the shooting, was not connected with the shooting itself, Lahners said.

"We haven't closed the case, or ruled out that this man might have had some connection with the case," Lahners added. The man is currently being held on a sexual assault charge in the County-City Jail.

Départment Investigates Destruction Of Letter

Che New Hork Simes

Washington - The Justice Department has begun a criminal investigation of the circumstances surrounding the destruction of a threatening letter delivered by Lee Harvey Oswald to the Dallas office of the FBI shortly before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The investigation, which is being conducted by lawyers in the department's criminal division, is said by authoritative sources to be focusing on "conflicting statements" given by present and former FBI agents and officials about their roles in — or knowledge of the decision to destroy the letter following Kennedy's murder Nov. 22, 1963.

The letter in question reportedly contained a threat by Oswald, the accused assassin of the late president, to "blow up" a Dallas police station unless the FBI ceased its efforts to locate and interview him in Dallas and what he described as its harassment of his Russian-born wife, Marina.

According to several sources familiar with the results of a recently ordered administrative inquiry by the FBI into the incident, the Oswald letter made no mention of any intention on his part to commit a murder, or of any animosity toward Kennedy.

The FBI's efforts to seek Oswald in the days before the some security interest. The threatening letter was delivered by Oswald to the FBI's Dallas field office in early November 1963, after a special agent there, James P. Hosty Jr., had made two visits to a home where Oswald's wife, Marina, was staving with a friend.

Despite the threatening language, the letter reportedly evoked no extraordinary effort on the part of the Dallas FBI office to locate Oswald, who had left the letter with an office receptionist in Hosty's name and then departed before it could be delivered.

The letter, the sources said, was simply made a part of Oswald's file. Hosty continued his efforts to locate Oswald, a former Marine rifleman, but they proved unavailing up to the time Kennedy was shot and killed while riding in a motorcade on a Dallas street.

Within days of the Kennedy assassination, sources said, the Oswald letter was removed from the file and destroyed. The chain of events that led to that destruction are the focus of the administrative inquiry now underway within the FBI.

To Boston's Problems By The Associated Press Teachers went on strike in Boston on Monday, compounding school problems caused by desegregation. And in Wilmington, Del., more than 200 striking school employes arrested for blocking the entrance to the school administration building were ordered by a court to stay at home during working hours.

The Boston strike came on the first school day after the end of the teachers' pledge not to walk out during the first two weeks of school to help smooth the opening of schools under an integration plan. The key issues in the strike are wages and the length of the school week.

Amtrak. The easy way to go downtown to downtown almost anywhere in the U.S.A.

There's nothing easier in this world to take than an Amtrak train. From the quick and easy way Amtrak Reservations and Information answers the phone to the quick and easy way Amtrak comes and goes. To over 480 cities in America.

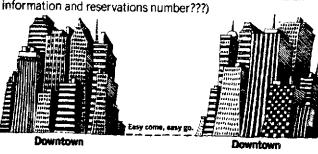

Traveling by train has always been something special. Something different. Even romantic. But now, when you compare it with all the other up-tight means of getting anywhere it takes on a whole new glow.

So maybe you ought to give us a call.

Driving can drive you crazy.

When you go from city to city by car, you have to get up real early to beat the traffic...and then it catches up with you when you're halfway to where you want to go. There you are fuming in the fumes (auto exhaust isn't very healthy for you or your kids), watching for speed limits, paying through the nose for gas. The wear and tear on your car is only surpassed by the wear and tear on you. And at 170 a mile (that's what it'll cost you for gas, oil and depreciation) it's no great bargain. As a matter of fact going most places by train could cost you less. And when you consider the additional cost of tolls, parking and possible repairs, going by Amtrak could cost you a lot less. (Now, what was that Amtrak

Flying can leave you up in the air.

First get to the airport. Grab a cab and pretty soon you're fuming in the traffic. Pay your fare (it's plenty). Or take your car and try to find a place to park. At the airport search for the gate. If the weather is fine and the ground traffic not too heavy you're off. Great flight if it turns out to be a smooth flight, and you're on your reservation. So all you do is go down to the station (downtown, not out-of-town), buy a ticket and get on board. On longer trips reservations are required for both coach and private accommodations. So when your travel plans are completed call Amtrak, or your travel agent.

Getting there is more than half the fun.

Once aboard just sink into the big wide seat, stretch your legs and relax. If you have a Easy come, and easy go between 480 cities.

wanderlust you can always take a stroll down the aisle. Many Amtrak trains have very elegant restaurants right on board with very unelegant prices. A full steak dinner, starting with appetizer and including vegetables and salad and ending with dessert and coffee, will cost you only $6.45, or delicious half spring chicken smothered in country gravy is only $3.75. Or you might find a nice little snack bar that serves hearty meat sandwiches for as little as 95¢.

Leave everything to us.

One of the nicest things about traveling on Amtrak is all the things you don't have to do. You can even allow yourself to be bored. Look out the big picture windows and see America as it's never seen from a superhighway or 5 miles high. Read. Snooze. Meet people who are as relaxed as you are. But if you're the type who just must be productive there's no better place to work than on the train. With nothing to worry about you can really concentrate on office or homework.

For more information or reservations see your travel agent or look up Amtrak under Railroads in the

So maybe you ought to give us a call.

Driving can drive you crazy. When you go from city to city by car, you have to get up real early to beat the traffic...and then it catches up with you when you're halfway to where you want to go. There you are fuming in the fumes (auto exhaust isn't very healthy for you or your kids), watching for speed limits, paying through the nose for gas.

The wear and tear on your car is only surpassed by the wear and tear on you. And at 17¢ a mile (that's what it'll cost you for gas, oil and depreciation) it's no great bargain. As a matter of fact going most places by train could cost you less. And when you consider the additional cost of tolls, parking and possible repairs, going by Amtrak could cost you a lot less. (Now, what was that Amtrak information and reservations number???)

Flying can leave you up in the air.

First get to the airport. Grab a cab and pretty soon you're fuming in the traffic. Pay your fare (it's plenty). Or take your car and try to find a place to park. At the airport search for the gate. If the weather is fine

We're also easy on your stomach.

and the ground traffic not too heavy you're off. Great flight if it turns out to be a smooth flight, and you're on your way in if the landing traffic isn't too heavy. Then you begin the cab ride hassle downtown

(Now what was that number for Amtrak??)

What's an Amtrak?

America's inter-city rail passenger service. That's what. And on many inter-city routes you don't even need a reservation.

So all you do is go down to the station (downtown, not out-of-town), buy a ticket and get on board. On longer trips reservations are required for both coach and private accommodations. So when your travel plans are completed call Amtrak, or your travel agent.

Easy come, and easy go between 480 cities.

Getting there is more than half the fun. Once aboard just sink into the big wide seat, stretch your legs and relax. If you have a wanderlust you can always take a stroll down the aisle. Many Amtrak trains have very elegant restaurants right on board with very unelegant prices. A full steak dinner, starting with appetizer and including vegetables and salad and ending with dessert and coffee, will cost you only $6.45, or delicious half spring chicken smothered in country gravy is only $3.75. Or you might find a nice little snack bar that serves hearty meat sandwiches for as little as 95¢.

Leave everything to us.

One of the nicest things about traveling on Amtrak is all the things you don't have to do. You can even allow yourself to be bored. Look out the big picture windows and see America as it's never seen from a superhighway or 5 miles high. Read. Snooze. Meet people who are as relaxed as you are. But if you're the type who just must be productive there's no better place to work than on the train. With nothing to worry about you can really concentrate on office or homework.

For more information or reservations see your travel agent or look up Amtrak under Railroads in the Yellow Pages.

There's bound to be someplace you're bound for on Amtrak because Amtrak operates 250 trains every day over 25,000 miles of track, serving 480 communities.

And it's easy come, easy go to any one of them

Brezhnev Expresses Hope For Arms Pact

Moscow (UPI) — Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, looking tanned and fit in his first public apperance since his vacation, expressed hope Monday that the United States and the Soviet Union will agree on a new arms limitation

He said its effects would be felt around the world for years to come.

The 68-year-old Communist Party general secretary made his comments at a 35-minute Kremlin meeting with American and Soviet spacemen during which he received - and dropped — a commemorative plaque, handed out bananas, cracked jokes and confirmed he has given up his two-packs-a-day smoking habit.

Resident Moscow correspondents said Brezhnev was in top form and gave no sign of the fatigue and ill health which kept him away from work for several weeks earlier this year.

Brezhnev said a new treaty limiting strategic arms, now being negotiated in the United States between Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is "a major question of the day.

Science, Politics Destroy Dignity Of Individual Death

NEW YORK -- The news that Dr. Frankenstein is alive and flourishing in Washington will surprise no one who follows world politics and international death plans. Politicians everywhere commonly view science primarily as an instrument for conveying death to disagreeable peoples, and if science is at the service of death in Washington, it is not a unique alliance of genius and back. The same alliance functions around the earth, and has through the centuries.

The peek we are now getting into Washington's scientific chamber of horrors is merely a titillating reminder of the alliance's existence. What makes it entertaining if not particularly startling is the small-bore triviality of the death plans in which the government has been dabbling.

Death on the scale deliverable by nuclear physics seems such a dull mathematical abstraction that it scarcely seems like death. The Pentagon does not even talk much about deaths any more when nuclear weaponry is discussed. The common term is "megadeaths.". It takes one million deaths to make just one megadeath. **☆ ☆ ☆

If one succumbs in a nuclear strike causing eighty megedeaths, one's loss to humanity can be measured as one eighty-millionth of a megadeath, which makes it seem a thoroughly negligible

In a sense, this is the worst of all the indignities heaped upon us by politics' perversion of science. A person's death ought to be an event of some note, not a fractional triviality so negligible that it would bore a baseball statistician.

The scientific corpseproduction labor now being discussed in Washington has the virtue of restoring some meaning to death because of the small scale on which these weapons were built to operate. As a result, it is a refreshing reminder of what the grandeur of nuclear science has conditioned us to forget; to wit, that politics and science between them never close down the charnel house.

The CIA's secret stash of cobra venom and shellfish poison, so suggestive of bad spy novels, reminds us that death is officially prepared by men who act like people in bad spy novels. The few deaths these poisons could create are ludicrously insignificant compared to nuclear science's megadeath, and for this reason, they suggest real death more pungently than anything the physics experts have been able to conjure in our imaginations.

 $\Delta \Delta \Delta$

We may assume that similar death instruments are being created in laboratories abroad. of course. Primitive politicians were quick to turn mineralogy into weapon science. Surely, Russians and Englishmen have been no more reluctant than Americans to do the same for biology.

The CIA's electrically fired poison-dart gun, with silencer, presumably for creating death in fairly important individuals displeasing to our government, is the kind of weapon small boys dream of. A rush job at the toy factory might create one of the surprise merchandising successes of the approaching Christmas shopping season.

Its charm, of course, is that it is designed to cause one single death, not the boring megadeath of physics. Here we have government dispensing the favor of dignified, individual death, thus making one's demise an event.

Even the more elaborate death programs which the CIA was preparing when it made a mock attack on New York subway riders by pumping harmless substances into the underground would cause deaths only in the thousands if duplicated in Moscow with real poison gases and germs. If things came to that, presumably we and the Soviets would both be dispensing megadeaths hither and yon on the landscape, so that the few thousand dead in the Moscow subway would enjoy deaths of uncommon singularity.

Reading the Dr. Frankenstein stories from Washington, one is struck by the playful spirit of politicians and scientists engaged in these labors. It is almost as though they were trying to get us interested again, by amusing us, in their varied death programs.

Why else would the CIA have chosen the poisonous hole that is the New York subway to test mechanisms for spreading infectious diseases? The same ironic WHO KNOWS WHAT EVIL LURKS IN THE HEARTS OF MEN? THE CIA DO!

humorist's hand is at work in CIA's choice of the Food and Drug Administration's drinkingwater supply to test techniques for spreading death through the water cooler.

We detect him again in the use of the Public Health Service's facilities to help create the killer shellfish poison, and in the frolicsome fraternity-house spirit with which both CIA and Army scientists slipped LSD into the coffee of unsuspecting human guinea pigs. It would be idle to fault science for its faithful service to politics in the death industry. American scientists who serve it can justly point to more unpieasant states abroad and say, "They all do it." On the other politicians, and that secrecy favors lunatics. Ah, here is the latest warning to the public from a consortium of concerned scientists. It tells us to beware of astrology. A false science, says the bulletin. That must mean the government can't find a way to use it for killing

Living The Good Life

It came as no surprise to the people of Lincoln that the city rated very high in a national study of good places to live. Lincoln placed third from highest among 95 cities studied by the Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City, Mo.

The only thing the residents of Lincoln might wonder is why the city did not place first. Maybe it would have, if its environment could have been properly rated and its relatively poor showing in the political arena could have been improved.

-It is rather hard to comprehend how many areas could have a better environment than Lincoln. Our air and water have not been badly polluted and the noise factor here is minimal.

'In the political category, Lincoln placed 45th. This rating factor was determined by the professionalism of the political institutions and the participation of the citizens. Also, it included a measure of welfare assistance, a measure that undoubtedly hurt our rating.

In economic, social, health and education categories, the capital city did well, especially its second place in economics and its third place in social. These two areas have a great deal to do with what most citizens would consider to be the important elements of people's standard of living.

We do not know all the elements of each of the categories in which the cities were rated. But we do know that we talk to a number of visitors to this city and have yet to find one who is not impressed with the place.

Lincoln is most attractive from a physical point of view and its busy and growing downtown area is an eye-opener to people who see it for the first time.

The vitality of the downtown area is a tribute to the business community there, to city government and to the people as a whole. Business interests have provided good leadership and have met with good cooperation when it was needed.

This city is not without its problems and we find plenty to battle about from time to time but a good foundation has been laid and there is a lot of pride to be taken. Lincoln's high rating is not only a tribute to the past and present, but a motivation for the future.

These committees were formed just a year ago on the reasonable but unprecedented notion that the Congress itself should try to keep its approrpiations in line with the nation's revenues. It was even suggested that if the President or the committees of the Congress asked to put out more money than was likely to come in, the budget committees could challenge the deficit, and propose budget cuts and spending priorities.

Well, of course, the deficits are now running higher than ever before, and these budget committees of the Congress haven't had time to get their staffs or their procedures in order, but the principle of guiding if not controlling appropriations has already been es-

For example, on last Aug. 1, the Senate, on the urging of both Republican and Democratic members of the Senate Budget Committee, rejected the fiscal 1976 military procurement conference report (HR6674). On Capitol Hill, where committee decisions are usually regarded as commands, especially when the committees of the House and Senate agree in conference on the money to be voted, this was a startling surprise. Never before had a military budget conference report been recommended by the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, John Stennis of Mississippi.

 $\triangle \triangle \triangle$

In the fight over money in this town, which most of the big fights are all about, there has been no more formidable coali- and partisan assumptions, and tion than the Pentagon and the insisting that fiscal responsibility Armed Services committees.

Waverly, Neb.

When they have agreed in the tant than the prerogatives of past, nobody could stand against them, not the rest of the Congress, or even the President. But the Senate Budget Committee, led by Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, and Sen. Henry L. Bellmon, R-Okla., prevailed.

What has happened in this intervention of the Senate Budget Committee may be more important than any other event in this Congress. The new budget committees have taken the problem of congressional fiscal responsibility seriously. They have limited powers, but they bave avoided party ideology, and have dared to question the most powerful committee chairmen of the House and Senate.

Also, Muskie has made clear that his fight against what he regards as excessive spending by the Pentagon also applies to excessive spending on domestic social programs in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He is leading the fight with Bellmon against what they regard as extravagance at HEW as well as across the river at the Pentagon, and Muskie's liberal colleagues are scalding him for his cuts and priorities.

"Muskie and the liberals on the (Senate) Budget Committee," says the liberal Council of National Priorities and Resources, "seem to have been seduced by the conservatives." Likewise, the liberal Americans for Democratic Action, concluded that "if Muskie can defeat Stennis and the Pentagon, he almost surely can defeat the Child Nutrition Act amendments . . . and any major increases in defeated, especially when social programs, such as expanded food stamp benefits, or any social initiatives. . ."

But something new is happening here. Muskie, Bellmon and their colleagues in the Senate Budget Committee are reaching beyond ideological in the Congress is more importheir parties or the committee chairmen.

Muskie has been very careful to respect the prior responsibilities of the chairmen of the appropriations committees and the Ways and Means Committee, provided they stay within reasonable guidelines, pay attention to over-all priorities, and work together to avoid "busting the budget."

"Nobody promised us a rose garden when we undertook budget reform," Muskie told the Senate the other day. "We knew the task of addressing our national fiscal priorities and beginning the long road back toward a balanced budget would be a thankless one.

"We knew those whose favorite programs would be cut would complain we were damaging the national interest, and those whose programs were allowed to grow might complain that the growth was not fast enough. We did so because of our conviction that failure to put the Congress and the country on the course toward fiscal responsibility and a balanced budget was to abandon our responsibility to our people. . .

"I think it's fair to say, at the end of our first year, that the budget committees of the House and Senate, with the help and support of the membership and committees of both bodies, have gained a toe-hold in the struggle toward fiscal responsibility."

And of course, it's no more than a toe-hold, bitterly opposed by many of the most powerful Democratic chairmen and liberal members of the Democratic Party, but these budget committees, created almost by accident after Nixon's impounding of funds voted often recklessly by the Congress, and aided mightily by the financial nightmare of New York City's financial crisis, are gradually having an important effect on Capitol Hill. Almost unnoticed, they may have started a quiet

Congressmen Get Their Teeth In It

WASHINGTON - Members of Congress, newly blessed with a salary boost and already loaded with fringe benefits, have for years been chiseling the Navy for free dental care.

The roster of legislators illegally getting root-canal work, deluxe fillings, dental surgery and even new plates reads like the leadership pages of the Congressional Directory.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., Senator Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and ex-Senator Norris Cotton, R-N.H., are only a few of the solons whose smiles reflect free custom care at the top-notch Navy Yard clinic.

Former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert Finch, who might have gotten bootleg care from his own departmental dentists, chose instead to patronize the Navy. Even prominent foreign diplomats were sneaked into the clinic.

Navy regulations and human decency require dentists to take care of patients in a true emergency. Such appears to be the case when Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., went to the clinic after he broke his tooth on a prune pit in a Senate restaurant.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-III., also feels he comes under the emergency rule because he needed a filling replaced and wasn't scheduled to see his regular dentist in Chicago for a month.

Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., says his treatment for a cracked tooth a few days ago was also an "emergency

But what of Mike Mansfield, usually as austere as his spare frame with the taxpayers money? After treatment of an abscessed tooth, he has now become a repeat patient of the Navy Yard's nationally known dentist, Capt. Michael Brenyo.

Sen. William Hathaway, D-Me., is also a frequent patient and has been treated for gum surgery and root-canal work by the solicitous Navy dentists. Hatfield underwent even more extensive work. Originally he dropped in at the clinic for "swelling of the mouth." But over a period of several years, Brenyo has done much of Hatfield's dental work, including a costly root canal.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., insists his visits to the clinic were for "minor dental work." Besides, his retired military pay status may make the work legal. Senator Cotton, we have learned, had a dental plate repaired and reportedly had a new one made. And Rep. Edward Boland, D-Mass., has had extensive gum invigoration work.

To their credit, all the prominent patients acknowledged their visits. Few were as frank as Finch, a former chief aide to Richard Nixon. Not only did he go, Finch said, but he "saw a number of congressmen while I was down there.'

Dental experts no longer in the clinic have fumed openly about the illegal work, but our reporter Gary Cohn visited the clinic and found anything but an "open wide" policy.

Commanding officer Stewart Elder, who has personally greeted such visitors as Hatfield, successfully dodged all our queries. When Cohn called him at home, the Navy captain refused even to speak to him.

Nevertheless, we have discovered that Elder justified the improper treatment of high government figures by telling his colleagues it would help the clinic at budget time.

Footnote: Several of the patients said they were unaware they were doing anything wrong. Yet even some of the "emergency" care is of dubious legality. We asked Capt. Brenyo whether we, for example, could get a filling on an emergency basis. "No way," he sputtered.

Fairburian Pleads The Case For The Small College Advertising On Tickets

Not Aware Of 'Dying'

Fairbury, Neb. Sadly, it has taken 34 years for our townspeople to discover, via some big-city-oriented SeTech board members, that our twoyear college is "dying." We're serving "only" 270 full-time regular students, plus 75 enrollees in practical nursing or veterans agriculture and another 100 to 200 in evening adult programs.

Strangly, we didn't know we were dying when we proudly opened the school in 1941 with 101 students. Nor when we cranked classes up again following World War II - again so proudly — with a student body of 98 and no facilities beyond a rundown vacant hospital.

Neither did we realize our sorrowful condition as we supported the old junior college on our own for three decades, paying several times the current 2.35 mill levy. We certainly weren't informed 10 years ago when more than 80% of us voted ourselves more taxes for a new science-library building.

True, enrollment has slipped in recent years, the same as with most other colleges. Two name changes within a few months hardly helped our image. Abolishment of the football program, though perhaps an economic necessity, cost more students. And a board with obvious Lincoln-Milford priorities has not energized us by offering any new programs or aggressive

Still, if the board will just reject Pershing and cut all the talk about dying, we may go right on being uninformed and alive. We'll go right on educating some of the finest young people in southeast Nebraska -- many of whom would never go to a larger and more expensive school. That may be worthwhile, even though we can handle only a few hundred at a time. F. C. ALUM as recent statistics show nearly one-fifth of all persons killed in traffic accidents are pedestrians. The problem, too, is especially in large cities as our own.

At the same time we must still be concerned as those most frequently affected are the young and the elderly. There may be several factors why Lincoln has compiled such a good record. But one reason we believe helpful in reducing pedestrian accidents in Lincoln is the School Crossing Protection Committee. This consists of an appointed group of city, school and private officials involved in monthly meetings and the activities to promote pedestrian safety and assist local schools in trafficpedestrian problems. Included are Mrs. Betty Adams, chairman; Mrs. Lucille Penterman; Mr. Robert Clarke, AAA; Robert Holsinger, city traffic engineer; Virgil Horne, safety consultant for the Lincoln Public Schools; Inspector Dean Leitner, Lincoln Police Department; and assisted by Richard Haden, and Secretary Margaret Remmenga, City Traffic Engineering

To get a better idea of the School Crossing Protection Committee for 1975-76, the public has the opportunity to attend a special orientation meeting Tuesday, Sept. 23, 1975, at Gateway Auditorium of the Gateway Shopping Center. It will start at 9:30 a.m., to be followed by questions and answers.

Therefore, we both thank the committee for their past and continued efforts and encourage all interested in the safety of our youth to attend this meeting.

Big Brother, Keep Out

We read in Friday's Star that the City Council, County Board, Planning Commission, etc., are wrestling with the problem of developing goals and policies concerning energy consumption. We hope this effort does not wind up in left field.

We believe the first and fundamental assumption should be that government at any level is not going to get people out of their private automobiles and has no business attempting to do so. We feel that their efforts should be directed toward doing everything reasonably possible to improve traffic flow to avoid the fuel waste resulting from traffic congestion. They might also reconsider previous decisions on new shopping centers since many people have to drive unnecessarily great distances to get to existing shopping facilities and of course are clogging the streets while doing so.

A careful review of fuel consumption by government itself would be in order. Perhaps there are fuel-consuming services which could be reduced, combined or eliminated. We hope no effort will be made to enforce a reduction of fuel consumption on the individual citizen by coercion or official obstacles to normal automobile use. We feel that each individual citizen will, with gasoline at 60 cents, develop his own "goals and policies" based on his own individual priorities. Increased sales of small fuel-efficient automobiles as well as home insulation and storm windows suggests that this process is already well under way.

We feel "Big Brother" can be most helpful by providing the least possible interference in our personal affairs.

NEW YORK — The news that Dr. Frankenstein is alive and flourishing in Washington will surprise no one who follows world politics and international death plans. Politicians everywhere commonly view science primarily as an instrument for conveying death to disagreeable peoples, and if science is at the service of death in Washington, it is not a unique alliance of genius and hack. The same alliance functions around the earth, and has through the centuries.

The peek we are now getting into Washington's scientific chamber of horrors is merely a titillating reminder of the alliance's existence. What makes it entertaining if not particularly startling is the small-bore triviality of the death plans in which the government has been dabbling.

Death on the scale deliverable by nuclear physics seems such a dull mathematical abstraction that it scarcely seems like death. The Pentagon does not even talk much about deaths any more when nuclear weaponry is discussed. The common term is "megadeaths.". It takes one

Science, Politics Destroy Dignity Of Individual Death million deaths to make just one megadeath.

公 公 公 If one succumbs in a nuclear strike causing eighty megedeaths, one's loss to humanity can be measured as one eighty-millionth of a megadeath, which makes it seem a thoroughly negligible

In a sense, this is the worst of all the indignities heaped upon us by politics' perversion of science. A person's death ought to be an event of some note, not a fractional triviality so negligible that it would bore a baseball

The scientific corpseproduction labor now being discussed in Washington has the virtue of restoring some meaning to death because of the small scale on which these weapons were built to operate. As a result, it is a refreshing reminder of what the grandeur of nuclear science has conditioned us to forget; to wit, that politics and science between them never close down the charnel house.

The CIA's secret stash of cobra venom and shellfish poison, so suggestive of bad spy novels, reminds us that death is officially prepared by men who act like people in bad spy novels. The few deaths these poisons could create are ludicrously insignificant compared to nuclear science's megadeath, and for this reason, they suggest real death more pungently than anything the physics experts have been able to conjure in our imaginations.

 $\triangle$   $\triangle$   $\triangle$

We may assume that similar death instruments are being created in laboratories abroad, of course. Primitive politicians were quick to turn mineralogy into weapon science. Surely, been no more reluctant than uncommon singularity. Americans to do the same for

The CIA's electrically fired resumably for creating death in fairly important individuals displeasing to our government, is the kind of weapon small boys dream of. A rush job at the tov factory might create one of the surprise merchandising successes of the approaching Christmas shopping season.

Its charm, of course, is that it is designed to cause one single death, not the boring megadeath of physics. Here we have government dispensing the favor of dignified, individual death, thus making one's demise an event.

Even the more elaborate death programs which the CIA was preparing when it made a mock attack on New York subway riders by pumping harmless substances into the underground would cause deaths only in the thousands if duplicated in Moscow with real poison gases and germs. If things came to that, presumably we and the Soviets would both be dispensing megadeaths hither and yon on the landscape, so that the few thousand dead in the Moscow Russians and Englishmen have subway would enjoy deaths of Reading the Dr. Frankenstein stories from Washington, one is struck by the playful spirit of poison-dart gun, with silencer, politicians and scientists engaged in these labors. It is almost as though they were trying to get us interested again, by amusing us, in their varied death programs.

American scientists who serve it can justly point to more unpleasant states abroad and say, "They all do it." On the other hand, it doesn't hurt the rest of us to be reminded from time to time that scientists are secretly working away at death with politicians, and that secrecy

Fairbury, Neb. Sadly, it has taken 34 years for our townspeople to discover, via some big-city-oriented SeTech board members, that our twoyear college is "dying." We're serving "only" 270 full-time regular students, plus 75 enrollees in practical nursing or veterans agriculture and another 100 to 200 in evening adult

Strangly, we didn't know we were dying when we proudly opened the school in 1941 with 101 students. Nor when we cranked classes up again following World War II - again so proudly - with a student body of 98 and no facilities beyond a rundown vacant hospital.

Neither did we realize our sorrowful condition as we supported the old junior college on our own for three decades, paying several times the current 2.35 mill levy. We certainly weren't informed 10 years ago when more than 80% of us voted ourselves more taxes for a new science-library building.

True, enrollment has slipped in recent years, the same as with most other colleges. Two name changes within a few months hardly helped our image. Abolishment of the football program, though perhaps an economic necessity, cost more students. And a board with obvious Lincoln-Milford priorities has not energized us by offering any new programs or aggressive

Still, if the board will just reject Pershing and cut all the talk about dying, we may go right on being uninformed and alive. We'll go right on educating some of the finest young people in southeast Nebraska - many of whom would never go to a larger and more expensive school. That may be worthwhile, even though we can handle only a few hundred at a time.

Waverly, Neb. I was disturbed by The Star's recent news article concerning the advertising on the back of the NU football tickets. The item stated that the university had sold this space for $3,000 for Football fans formerly had a map of the various sections in the stadium in this space. In this way, each ticket-holder could know just where his seat was. For about half a cent per ticket, the ticket-holder has been robbed of this convenience.

I realize that most tickets are held by season ticket holders who have had their seats for years. However, many of the tickets do not go to season ticket holders. Many are used by those not familiar with the NU football stadium. Our stadium is one of the largest in the nation and has, I believe, some 41 sections.

A ticket-holder should have a right to know just where his section is located in the stadium. After all, the university is supposed to be basically a tax-supported public institution, not established for profit-making purposes. We feel that the fans, the ticket-holders, have been ill considered by this new policy. CONCERNED TICKET-HOLDER

☆ ☆ ☆ Lincoln Safety Record

Lincoln, Neb. Recently Mayor Helen Boosalis was presented a special pedestrian safety award for the City of Lincoln. The award was made by the American Automobile Association based on records showing Lincoln to be one of a few cities to have outstanding pedestrian death and injury records. We in Lincoln should be especially proud of such an award as recent statistics show nearly one-fifth of all persons killed in traffic accidents are pedestrians. The problem, too, is especially in large cities as our own.

At the same time we must still be concerned as those most frequently affected are the young and the elderly.

There may be several factors why Lincoln has compiled such a good record. But one reason we believe helpful in reducing pedestrian accidents in Lincoln is the School Crossing Protection Committee.

This consists of an appointed group of city, school and private officials involved in monthly meetings and the activities to promote pedestrian safety and assist local schools in trafficpedestrian problems. Included are Mrs. Betty Adams, chairman; Mrs. Lucille Penterman; Mr. Robert Clarke, AAA; Robert Holsinger, city traffic engineer; Virgil Horne, safety consultant for the Lincoln Public Schools; Inspector Dean Leitner, Lincoln Police Department; and assisted by Richard Haden, and Secretary Margaret Remmenga, City Traffic Engineering Department.

To get a better idea of the School Crossing Protection Committee for 1975-76, the public has the opportunity to attend a special orientation meeting Tuesday, Sept. 23, 1975, at Gateway Auditorium of the Gateway Shopping Center. It will start at 9:30 a.m., to be followed by questions and answers.

Therefore, we both thank the committee for their past and continued efforts and encourage all interested in the safety of our youth to attend this meeting.

DICK TREADWAY

the fuel waste resulting from traffic congestion. They might also reconsider previous decisions on new shopping centers since many people have to drive unnecessarily great distances to get to existing shopping facilities and of course are clogging the streets while doing so. A careful review of fuel consumption by government itself would be in order. Perhaps there are fuel-consuming services which could be reduced, combined or eliminated. We hope no effort will be made to enforce a reduction of fuel consumption on the individual citizen by coercion or official obstacles to normal automobile use. We feel that each individual citizen will, with gasoline at 60 cents, develop his own "goals and policies" based on his own individual priorities. Increased sales of small fuel-efficient automobiles as well as home insulation and storm windows suggests that this process is already well under way.

We feel "Big Brother" can be most helpful by providing the least possible interference in our personal affairs.

Apparently trying to make sure it hears all there is to hear about the nuclear power plant issue, the City Council Monday set yet another public hearing on the matter. That action came following almost two hours of testimony in the morning and several hours more Monday afternoon on a proposed bond ordinance allowing the city to buy into a nuclear plant.

The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the City Council Chambers. The council somewhat reluctantly agreed to the meeting after nuclear plant critics told the lawmakers they needed more time to present their viewpoints. Lincoln Electric System officials also will be allowed to testify Thursday night.

The LES Administrative Board is proposing that the council adopt a new bond ordinance which will allow the city to pay for the electricity needed during the next decade. The ordinance would allow the city to buy 13% of the Ft. Calhoun No. 2 nuclear plant, to be built by the Omaha Public Power District.

LES board chairman Tom Allman testified that LES's consultants believe that participation in Ft. Calhoun will provide Lincolnites with cheaper electric power than if LES obtains power from some other source.

Allman said that OPPD needs a decision from the council by Oct. 1 on whether Lincoln will become a co-owner in the plant. If the council delays a decision on the bond ordinance' Allman said, the city will lose its chance by default.

Critics of LES's plans charged again Monday that the council and public haven't had enough time to review the proposed bond ordinance.

That criticism apparently prompted a majority of the council to agree to hold one more meeting on the topic, even though Councilman Bob Jeambey acknowledged, "I'm not sure we're going to hear much more than we have already.

Nuclear power plant critics questioned the safety of nuclear plants, criticized the amount of money it takes to build such plants and contended that uranium, the nuclear fuel, will become scarce and more expensive in the future.

Jeambey, who has criticized the LES Board for not keeping the council more informed of its actions, commended the board for being concerned that "Lincoln is not caught short for its future electrical

However, he asked Allman if LES would change its position on the Ft. Calhoun deal if construction of the plant were delayed for three or four years. That delay, Jeambey said, would mean that Lincoln couldn't obtain electricity to meet its projected demand.

Allman responded that the board still wants to use nuclear generation as a part of its overall power supply mix.

Councilman Dick Baker pointed out that regardless of what Lincoln chooses to do about the situation, Ft. Calhoun could still be built by OPPD and NPPD.

The Nebraska Power Review Board will hold another hearing Friday to obtain more information on the nuclear plant.

The Havelock neighborhood squabble, which erupted in July before the planning commission, finally came home to the City Council Monday.

The issue is whether the zoning on one lot at 68th and Colfax Ave. should be changed from K Light Industry to A-2 Single Family.

The application was brought by Reinholdt Rutt and other residents who apparently believed that the dezoning would force the Drennan Watts garage out of business. It won't. Under the so-called grandfather clause, Watts would be able to continue operating his business.

Nevertheless, Rutt's attorney, Joe Carnotto, claimed that the auto repair business is "a gross abuse of this property."

"Do you think this is bad? If so, what can I do about it?"

ANSWER: Apparently you derive joy from your home and your husband, which makes you a fortunate person. However, I must agree with you that you are in a rut that will probably get worse if you don't do something about it. You have already sensed this or you would not have written as you did.

It is unfortunate but true that when we remove ourselves from social contact with our friends they gradually drop out of our lives. Good friends will make some effort to "keep in touch," but if you never indicate that you want to further the relationship, in time they will stop trying.

A Denim Hall Of Fame

It may be time to create a Denim Hall of Fame. Blue jeans, denim skirts and dresses, jean jackets, bibtop overalls and denim leisure suits for men are the craze these days. But even more popular than just plain denim is denim decorated with embroidery, appliques, sequins, metal studs and rhinestones.

And because decorated denim has become such a fad during the past few years, Ben Simon and Sons recently sponsored a "Decorate Your Denim" contest to test the creativity of young denim wearers.

Receiving 188 denim, chambray and madras entries from their three stores - downtown Lincoln, Lincoln Gateway and Westroads in Omaha - Simon's selected six winners and named 10 honorable men-

The winners — from first to sixth — were Marv Graff, Clarke Stevens, Pam Killion, Linda Lochmiller, Jesse Scott of Omaha and Mehe and Reuben Delgado.

A reflection of the frontier-days trapper, Graff's western-style jacket featured a fur collar with suede cuffs and back pleat.

The jacket back is decorated with a rainbow inset and several loose-hanging rabbit pelts, secured by rawhide straps and brass studs.

UNL dentistry student and second place winner Clarke Stevens incorporated an interest in metal sculpture into his entry consisting of both jacket and pants.

Stevens' jacket back displayed a large Indian head, complete with chieftain headdress of crewel with metal accents. The matching pants featured Indian feathers in metal and crewel down the side

"Indian jewelry and turquoise are really popular today" and the Indian motif seemed "appropriate for decorating jeans," he said. "Besides, I've never seen anything with copper, brass and silver incorporated

Pam Killion's reversible sport jacket entry of patchwork denim and batik was intended to be a birthday gift for a friend who is a musical performer.

"I started in July by asking friends and neighbors for old jeans, which I pieced together," she said. "I decided the coat needed a lining but I wanted something really different, so I started researching batik."

Because the muslin batik design turned out so well. Ms. Killion decided not to use it s lining, but instead to make the coat reversible.

All of the entries were as unique as their creators: There was a short jacket inset with lamb's wool and trimmed with rows of sequins, brass tacks and small mirrors secured with elaborate crewel; a complete patchwork suit which was made from old jeans purchased at a cost of $5; a two-piece, cutaway tuxedo of patchwork denim; and a pair of white, bell-bottom jeans displaying large, blue embroidered peacocks embellished with rhinestones.

splashes across yokes, on collars, cuffs and pockets of many work shirts. One shirt was trimined with white eyelet and red ric rac and displayed a large Raggedy

Ann applique on the back. Another work shirt included, among other things, an embroidered, life-size replica of a "Times" magazine cover featuring Robert Redford and Mia Farrow in "The Great Gatsby." Why? Because Mr.

Blue-Eyes is the artist's favorite actor. There was even the shirt's answer to the charm bracelet. Named "Memory Shirt" by its creator, the shirt displayed the entrant's initials, her favorite flower, scripture and symbol - the heart. One sleeve sported "Go Big Red" in red crossstitch, while the back shirttail featured the embroidered outlines of four states in which the seamstress has lived.

Embroidered wedding rings spoke of the conteseant's marriage, one red apple was a subtle indication of her teaching career and a needle and thread symbolized a hobby.

The shirt even displayed cartoon characters with one caption reading, "I think I'll be a preacher when I grow up. They only work once a week."

Many of the entries may be viewed by the public when the items are displayed at the downtown Simon's store through Saturday, at the Gateway store from Sept. 29-Oct. 4 and at the Westroads store in Omaha from Oct. 6-11.

Centers Aid Youths To Gain Confidence In Academic Skills

Star Staff Writer

The 18-year-old fought off confusion in the first lecture on Western Civilization. By the time the class got to feudalism, he was fighting off academic serfdom, and struggling for a C.

Instead of expecting that such a student already has the skills to handle reading and writing assignments, 11 Nebraska colleges believe he's one of many who need help learning first how to learn.

And inseparable from what they learn is the idea that faculty must find better ways to teach students.

The member campuses of the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education (NETCHE) have wedded solutions to problems in both approaches, in the same setting.

A student who "may know how to read" but "doesn't know how to study a textbook" can learn just that in the new Teaching-Learning Centers established this year, said Mindy Brooks.

Ms. Brooks, coordinator of the centers, said they can "better equip students to compete in the collegiate setting," serving good as well as poorer learners.

The centers and a cooperative administrative development program are two new services NETCHE is administering under a $200,000 federal grant. Founded eight years ago, the consortium also continues its original role, producing TV lessons for college classrooms.

Executive Director Lee Rockwell said NETCHE decided to "look for other areas of educational concern on a cooperative basis." The findings showed that while many post-high school students' achievement is generally acceptable, some harbor insecurity about their basic abilities to read efficiently, take useful lecture notes or prepare for tests.

The Teaching-Learning Centers promote academic skills, independence, self-confidence and learning efficiency.

Rockwell said 17 local staff members at the NETCHE campuses serve as center coordinators. To train them to run developmental studies programs and aid in faculty improvements. NETCHE offers year-long formal courses, workshops, phone advice and on-campus visits.

The local coordinators may offer students diagnostic tests to determine, for example, their vocabulary, reading and spelling abilities, then counsel them to enroll in a comprehensive reading study skills course.

The service doesn't end there. The center "may do a readability study of the textbook the student is having a problem with," Ms. Brooks said.

The coordinators rely heavily on faculty to refer students to the centers, she said. Student participation has increased to an average of about 30 on each campus.

Ironically, faculty members "are usually the slowest" to accept the centers' function, she said. But direct faculty involvement is catching on rapidlv. as they examine teaching objectives, individualized and communicating techniques, use of media and out-of-class student aids.

Rockwell said their NETCHE-related work last year, for instance, resulted in Peru State redesigning an art appreciation course; Hastings College initiated student evaluations of faculty, and the College of St. Mary in Omaha analyzed its tests.

He lauded the willingness of the colleges to "sit down around the table and plan a cooperative program." Academic deans work closely with the

Teaching-Learning Centers, sitting on an advisory board that also includes faculty and students.

NETCHE offers a model adaptable to needs at each member campus, Ms. Brooks explained. "The principle is the same for every student," and the "core of instruction we offer is good at any level." Only the materials change to meet varying goals.

Ms. Brooks said 99% of the students served by the centers applauded the offerings, declaring their academic weaknesses had been strengthened as a result. Students complained only that the minicourses could've been covered even faster.

The administrative development program provides training sessions and learning opportunities for campus middle managers, such as department chairmen, to deal with on-the-job issues, Ms. Brooks said.

"It's exciting," Rockwell said, "the way the colleges have latched onto" NETCHE services.

Next year, he said the consortium will request continuation funds to refine and broaden the offerings, and launch into tutoring programs. Additional short courses are also being planned, such as consumer math, a writing clinic, and mediaoriented, single-concept study skills.

The 18-year-old fought off confusion in the first lecture on Western Civilization. By the time the class got to feudalism, he was fighting off academic serfdom, and struggling for a C.

Instead of expecting that such a student already has the skills to handle reading and writing assignments, 11 Nebraska colleges believe he's one of many who need help learning first how to learn.

And inseparable from what they learn is the idea that faculty must find better ways to teach

The member campuses of the Nebraska Educational Television Council for Higher Education (NETCHE) have wedded solutions to problems in both approaches, in the same setting.

A student who "may know how to read" but "doesn't know how to study a textbook" can learn just that in the new Teaching-Learning Centers established this year, said Mindy Brooks.

Ms. Brooks, coordinator of the centers, said they can "better equip students to compete in the collegiate setting," serving good as well as poorer

The centers and a cooperative administrative development program are two new services NETCHE is administering under a $200,000 federal grant. Founded eight years ago, the consortium also continues its original role, producing TV lessons for college classrooms.

Executive Director Lee Rockwell said NETCHE decided to "look for other areas of educational concern on a cooperative basis." The findings showed that while many post-high school students' achievement is generally acceptable, some harbor insecurity about their basic abilities to read efficiently, take useful lecture notes or prepare for tests.

The Teaching-Learning Centers promote academic skills, independence, self-confidence and learning efficiency.

Rockwell said 17 local staff members at the NETCHE campuses serve as center coordinators. To train them to run developmental studies programs and aid in faculty improvements, NETCHE offers year-long formal courses, workshops, phone advice and on-campus visits.

The local coordinators may offer students diagnostic tests to determine, for example, their vocabulary, reading and spelling abilities, then counsel them to enroll in a comprehensive reading study skills course.

The service doesn't end there. The center "may do a readability study of the textbook the student is having a problem with," Ms. Brooks said. The coordinators rely heavily on faculty to refer students to the centers, she said. Student participation has increased to an average of about 30 on each campus. Ironically, faculty members "are usually the slowest" to accept the centers' function, she said. But direct faculty involvement is catching on rapidly, as they examine teaching objectives, individualized and communicating techniques, use of media and out-of-class student aids.

Rockwell said their NETCHE-related work last year, for instance, resulted in Peru State redesigning an art appreciation course; Hastings College initiated student evaluations of faculty, and the College of St. Mary in Omaha analyzed its tests.

He lauded the willingness of the colleges to "sit down around the table and plan a cooperative program." Academic deans work closely with the

Teaching-Learning Centers, sitting on an advisory board that also includes faculty and students.

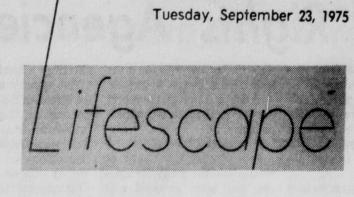

NETCHE offers a model adaptable to needs at each member campus, Ms. Brooks explained. "The principle is the same for every student," and the "core of instruction we offer is good at any level." Only the materials change to meet varying goals.

Ms. Brooks said 99% of the students served by the centers applauded the offerings, declaring their academic weaknesses had been strengthened as a result. Students complained only that the minicourses could've been covered even faster.

The administrative development program provides training sessions and learning opportunities for campus middle managers, such as department chairmen, to deal with on-the-job issues, Ms. Brooks said.

"It's exciting," Rockwell said, "the way the colleges have latched onto" NETCHE services.

Next year, he said the consortium will request continuation funds to refine and broaden the offerings, and launch into tutoring programs. Additional short courses are also being planned, such as consumer math, a writing clinic, and mediaoriented, single-concept study skills.

Civil Rights Agencies Said Weak By Design

By BOB GUENTHER Star Staff Writer

Insufficient funding and toothless laws, more by design than accident, have hampered the ability of state and local civil rights agencies to redress minority problems.

As a result, the agencies have lost some of the confidence of minority people who cannot understand why "the government" cannot correct injustices.

Those conclusions were reached by an advisory committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission after a one-year study of eight local and state civil rights agencies. Committee members Monday outlined the 95-page report for state senators and the eight agencies.

The proposed East Omaha site realistically high, the senator for a new state prison will be said. submitted to a public hearing in Omaha Friday. Sen. John Savage of Omaha, chairman of a gubernatorial site selection committee, said the the Omaha Civic Center.

The medium-minimum security facility would, along with a similar new institution in Lincoln, replace the present Men's Reformatory. Savage said he believes the East Omaha site is acceptable despite two concerns expressed by Gov. J. James Exon and State Correctional Services Director

Both have pointed to the safety factor involved in its location next to the approach path of a runway at Eppley Airfield and the possible high cost of acquiring the land.

'The same (safety) objection is present in Lincoln," Savage said. The current reformatory, which is the site for the proposed new facility, is below the flight path to the Lincoln Airport, he said.

NWU Board Eases Alcohol Use Rules

The Nebraska Wesleyan University Board of Governors, although remaining opposed in principle, eased prohibition of students' possession and use of alcoholic beverages in on-campus dormitory rooms. The new board policy "urges mature judgment and social responsibility when individuals make a decision regarding the use of alcoholic beverages," said Darrel Seng, NWU publicity director.

-A group of faculty, administrators and students "are working on how to implement that policy on campus," and had their first meeting Monday, he said.

The Student Affairs Senate, seeking to change the old policy banning alcholic beverages in any NWU living unit or at any university-sanctioned function, passed suggested guidelines for the relaxed rules. Those also gained Faculty Senate approval.

The guidelines include:

-Maintaining the drinking and possession ban at all campus buildings and grounds, except in rooms of individuals and only then if they've reached the legal age of 19. -Prohibiting use of student funds to buy alcoholic beverages at all student functions, such as off-campus homecoming parties. -Requiring at least one or two educational sessions on alcohol abuse, in the dorms.

-Having the NWU Judiciary of students, faculty and administrators act on any infractions of the rules.

Seng said the Board of Governors' action is "another step in the continuing progress of the college getting itself out of the in loco parentis" philosophy, acting in place of a parent or a parent's authority.

Based on the "assumption and belief that students are able to take care of themselves," Seng said the trend recognizing that began in the mid-1960s, when dormitory hours were relaxed and later concessions allowed coed dorms, students sitting on governing boards, and more stu-

UNO Splitoff Talk Quickly Quenched

Star Staff Writer

Two Omaha area senators quickly poured water Monday on a suggestion by Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City that the University of Nebraska at Omaha might wish to be separated from the NU system.

"I have heard no rumblings of that at all," Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue said.

It is not an option that would be "encouraged by any member of the Omaha delegation that I know of," Lewis said.

Sen. John Savage of Omaha said he is "not aware of any problem along that line.'

Anxious For Pie

Murphy raised the issue as a possible area of study for the special legislative committee which is considering a longrange plan for higher education in Nebraska

The nine-member unit, headed by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, began its 15-month journey toward the 1977 Legislature with a day-long meeting in Lincoln.

Its final recommendations will be aimed beyond the 1976 legislative session for consideration in 1977.

'Father Varner' Murphy wondered if UNO As far as he is concerned, he might wish to "get out from unsaid, "we are just anxious to get der Father Varner" by separating from the University of Nebraska system. President D. B. Varner heads the NU system, composed of the Lincoln Center in Omaha.

UNO "might want a little more autonomy," Murphy suggested.

Lewis was quick to scuttle such an idea, noting that "most of the criticism (of the NU system) has come from the Lincoln campus.

'Lot Of Criticism'

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings said he hears "a lot of criticism of the NU system," including the question of "whether

The study committee, he said, should "dig into everything."

Warner's committee plans to develop a long-range plan for higher education, defining roles and missions for the university, campus, UNO and the Medical the state colleges, the technical community colleges and private

After several months of background study, the senators hope to formulate their policy, then submit it to public hearing

throughout the state. Develop Own Plan

Instead of following past experience of asking the institutions for a plan to which the Legislature could react, Warner said, this time the senators will develop a plan to which educators and other interested citizens can respond.

Whether the legislative plan will include a single government board for higher education or a coordinating board or council is yet to be determined.

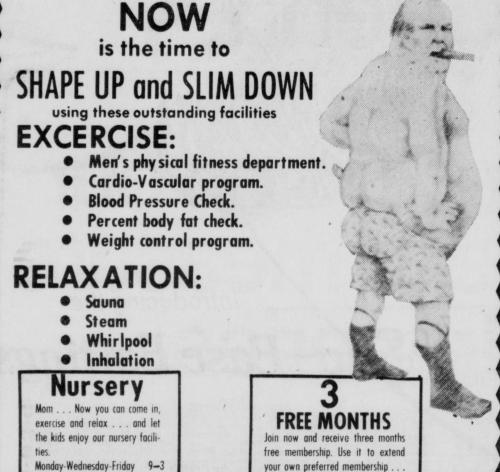

Nebraska is one of only three states which do not have one or the other.

Two More Persons Killed On Highways

By The Associated Press Two more persons died in traffic accidents on Nebraska highways, hiking the state's 1975 road death toll to 261, compared with 286 at this time last year.

The latest reported victim was a Dwight man, Allen W. Rech, Rech died Monday morning in a Lincoln hospital of injuries he suffered Sunday in a car-pickup truck crash on a Butler County road about six miles southeast of

Man Formerly From Hastings Dies In Plunge

EAGLE, Colo. (AP)-A former Hastings man was killed in a Sunday accident three miles east

Authorities said Stephen Lingwall, 25, of Eagle, was killed when he lost control of his car rolling end over end and landing near a stream.

Lingwall was a 1973 graduate of Hastings College and his parents are residents of a Sheridan County road.

Officials said Rech was a passenger in a southbound car being driven by Jerry Tlamka, $6, of rural David City.

The Tlamka car collided nearly headon with a pickup truck driven by Billy J. Smith, 33, of Glenwood, Iowa.

Tlamka and Smith, along with a passenger in Smith's pickup, John Kucera, 22, of Schuyler, suffered multiple cuts, bruises and abrasions. All three were taken to a David City hospital where they were listed in satisfactory condition Monday.

A Hay Springs woman, Lynn Pisacka, 25, was killed late Sunday in a car-truck collisison on U.S. 20, about 31/2 miles west of Hay Springs.

The State Patrol said the Pisacka woman was a passenger in a car driven by Joe Connelly, 28, of Chadron.

Officials said the collission ocand it plunged over a precipice, curred when the truck driver, Glenn Allen Braithwaite, 19, of Rapid City, S.D., attempted to pass the Connelly auto, as Connelly began a left turn on to Braithwaite escaped injury.

Bankers Eager To Learn All About Hedging

By DOMINICK COSTELLO Form Editor

Hedging was the magic word at the Nebraska bankers convention in Lincoln Monday morning. Bankers appeared to be eager to learn all they could about taking the risk out of investing in livestock loans. A hedge is a promise of delivery of a specific lot of cattle (40,000 lbs.) at a set price on a specific date. The person who makes the promise has the option of either delivering the cattle as promised or of buying back the promise.

Major cattle feeders are apparently using in increasing requirements, in the event numbers this risk-reducing Hackney has found a way around the problem.

"We work with people who can feed more than 200 head of cattle at a time and then hedge 80% of them on the contract.

"At the time the cattle are taken to slaughter, we sort the 20% off so we get reasonably close to the contract and absorb the difference ourselves," he difficulty for farmers but a head less than we expected." said Wayne Hendrickson, a cattle feeder from Lexington.

Real Problems

"This creates real problems in meeting a fat cattle contract purchased on the basis of the feeder cattle contract. They won't weigh enough to meet the contract on the date of the fat contract," he said.

R. H. Hatch, Omaha National Bank, said his company is interested in working with corresponding banks on futures contracts designed to protect or lock in a profit on cattle, but not on purely speculative ventures.

"We think a feeder needs to lock in a profit of $25 to $30 a head on these cattle. Don't do it on a break-even basis because even if you have the corn secured you can run into weather problems reducing gain, causing a loss," he warned.

All speakers warned that feeders entering a futures contract must have good records to work with. "You have to know what your costs are. You are really going to have to do your homework if you lend money to a feeder on the basis of a bedge," Hatch warned.

'Cannot Sell'

Feldman noted that most bankers will require an agree-

Kearney Man Drowns In Pit

Kearney (AP) — A Kearney man drowned early Sunday in a sandpit in the southwestern section of the city, according to Buffalo County authorities.

The victim was identified as Michael Stumpff, 26.

Investigators said Stumpff was driving his utility vehicle in the sandpit, when it rolled into deep water.

A female companion, who was not identified, escaped injury, but was not able to rescue Stumpff, officials said.

ment that the farmer cannot sell or change his contract without approval of the bank providing the loan. This is to protect themselves from a loss caused by a farmer wanting to speculate on the futures market.

Ray Wielage, National Bank of Commerce, said this convention was really a work-study session.

"They are here to learn all they can about the banker's role in hedging, the risks and advantages, so they can advise their customers. Today's farmer is a good businessman and must find some way to take the risks out of farming.

"A farmer knows what his expenses are but his problem is he has no way to know what his income is. Hedging hopefully is one way he can get some control over the price he gets for his crop or his livestock," Wielage

Moisture is needed in most areas for wheat planting and for replenishing subsoil moisture, it was pointed out Monday in the bureau's weekly crop-weather report. About 5% of the state's corn crop has been harvested, slightly ahead of normal. Over 70% of the corn is mature. Corn harvest

Summer Ends With New Low At North Platte On the last day of summer, temperatures dipped to record lows in Nebraska early Monday. At North Platte, the mercury dropped to 29 degrees for a new all-time low for the date. The previous record was 30 degrees, a shortage, and 94% reporting a set only last year. Lincoln's 34 degrees Monday tied the record low for the date set in 1913. By mid-afternoon Monday temperatures across the state were in the 70s.

Autumn is due to make its arrival in Nebraska Tuesday at 10:55 a.m. amid pleasant Weather. A slow warming trend is predicted through Tuesday night with highs Tuesday mostly in the mid to upper 70s. Surmy, mild days with fair, cool nights are expected to contime through Seturday.

Sorghum harvest is well under way in the central, east central, south central and southeast districts, the report disclosed. Statewide, nearly 15% of the crop has been harvested, well above the normal rate.

Over 65% of the winter wheat crop has been seeded, with farmers in some areas waiting for additional moisture before seeding.

More than 20% of the soybean crop has matured, the report said with limited harvesting starting in a few areas.

About 20% of the fourth cutting of alfalfa hay is finished with growth slowed in many areas. The dry bean harvest in the northwest is about 60% completed. High winds last week in that area caused moderate to heavy damage in some field. Topsoil moisture supplies continued to decline this past week to 84% of the counties reporting subsoil shortage. Rainfall received in the state during the past week included.

Precipitation via sections since the beginning of the growing season, April 1, as compared to longtime averages, follows:

Bankers Eager To Learn All About Hedging By DOMINICK COSTELLO

Farm Editor Hedging was the magic word at the Nebraska bankers convention in Lincoln Monday morning. Bankers appeared to be eager to learn all they could about taking the risk out of investing in livestock loans.

A hedge is a promise of delivery of a specific lot of cattle (40,000 lbs.) at a set price on a specific date. The person who makes the promise has the option of either delivering the cattle as promised or of buying back the promise.

Major cattle feeders are apparently using in increasing requirements, in the event

'We work with people who can feed more than 200 head of cattle at a time and then hedge 80% of them on the contract.

"At the time the cattle are taken to slaughter, we sort the 20% off so we get reasonably close to the contract and absorb the difference ourselves," he said.

Buying feeder cattle on the futures market also has its problems. "We have had difficulty getting the quality we expected on feeder contracts. Cattle have been running very light this fall, as much as 75 lbs.

difficulty for farmers but a head less than we expected," Hackney has found a way around said Wayne Hendrickson, a cattle feeder from Lexington.

Real Problems

'This creates real problems in meeting a fat cattle contract purchased on the basis of the feeder cattle contract. They won't weigh enough to meet the contract on the date of the fat contract," he said.

R. H. Hatch, Omaha National Bank, said his company is interested in working with corresponding banks on futures contracts designed to protect or lock in a profit on cattle, but not on purely speculative ventures.

Kearney Man Drowns In Pit

Kearney (AP) - A Kearney man drowned early Sunday in a sandpit in the southwestern section of the city, according to Buffalo County authorities.

The victim was identified as Michael Stumpff, 26.

Investigators said Stumpff was driving his utility vehicle in the sandpit, when it rolled into deep water.

A female companion, who was not identified, escaped injury, but was not able to rescue Stumpff, officials said.

Nebraska To Meet

Sports Signals

By Bob Owens Star Sports Editor

Husker Frosh Open Friday

Jim Ross, Nebraska freshman football coach, calls his 1975 Husker team "typical" of his seven previous squads. "We're real strong in some spots and weak in others," he told the Extra Point Club at its Monday luncheon at the Elks Club.

The Extra Point Club, incidentally, isn't a club as such there is no membership fee - and anybody can listen in and watch the game movies just by paying the $2.75 charge for the

The Husker frosh will open at 3 p.m. Friday against the Kansas State Jayvees in Manhattan, Kan. Under Ross, the freshmen have lost just two games while winning 22.

Ross plans to use two units both offensively and defensively, alternating them by quarters.

Whether it was in jest or not (you can't always tell whether Jim is kidding), he said, "I think we could give Indiana a pretty good ball game.'

The starting quarterback will be walk-on Tim Hager, who prepped at Southeast in Lincoln. Backing him up will be Mike Kennedy, who was recruited from St. Augustine High School in LaMesa, Calif.

Kennedy was the high school passer to another Husker recruit, Tim Smith. "He's an excellent football player," Ross said. Smith, who is a split end, also will do the punting and Ross called him "as good as we've had."

Depth At Fullback, I-back

The Huskers have three players at both I-back and fullback and Ross is enthusiastic about their ability.

"At I-back we have a walk-on from either North Carolina or South Carolina by the name of Isiah Hipp," he said. "If he runs as well as I think he can I'll find out which one."

Hipp is 6-0 and 190 pounds and has run a :09.7 in the 100 and he's from Chapin, South Carolina. He wasn't recruited by NU, but just decided he wanted to play in the Big Eight and Nebraska was his choice.

He's running with recruits Richard Berns of Wichita Falls Tex, a big powerful back at 6-2, 200, and Mike Burton, 5-7, 170

Fullbacks are Dirk Bush from Riverton, Wyo., and Mike Washington from Lincoln High, both recruits, and walk-on Keith Steward from Steubenville, O.

The wingback position players for the opener will be recruit Greg Suelter of Ord and walk-on Kevin Wilkinson of Alliance.

Many Line Prospects

Four offensive linemen are highly regarded by Ross, who said Barney Cotton of Omaha, John Havekost of Scribner, Keith Bishop of Midland, Tex., and Mark Stroh of Omaha are "as good offensive linemen as we've had since I've had the freshmen."

There also is depth in the defensive line with the likes of Bill Barnett of Alton, Minn., Oudius Lee of Omaha, Mark Goodspeed of Leawood, Kan., and Rod Horn of Fresno, Calif.

Ross also believes he has uncovered a middle guard who was recruited by the Huskers as a linebacker and defensive end. His name is Lawrence Cole of Dayton, O.

'He was a defensive end until last week when we ran out of middle guards." Ross said. "We put him at middle guard and he has looked good there. He's very aggressive and very quick."

Monster man is Bill Holmes, who played on Lincoln East's 1974 state champiaonship squad. Ross called him "probably the outstanding defender and a very good prospect."

Safetyman John Ingram of Omaha reminds Ross of George Kyros and Jimmy Burrow when they were freshmen. "He's a pretty good football player, not very big (5-9, 160), but very aggressive and he will hit people."

Wayne State football coach year.' Del Stoltenberg was wondering how Midland could take a 16-6 lead from the Wildcats, with just minutes left to play. "After our first two games, in which I saw us lose late in the game, I was just thinking how we could lose this one," said Stoltenberg, whose team snapped Midland's 15-game winning streak that stretched over three years. "But I guess our pride came through," Stoltenberg said. "We knew we were better than we showed in our first two games, (a 15-13 loss to Northern State and a 28-14 decision to William Penn)." The Wildcat defense also proved better than expected holding the powerful Warrior wishbone, which had averaged 336 yards in its first two games, to just 108 yards.

The Wayne defense also forced three Midland fumbles and one interception, which set up the winning touchdown.

Brian Moeller, a senior tailback boosted the offense, as he roared for 127 yards and two touchdowns. "He's our Mr. Consistent, said Stoltenberg. "He doesn't break for the 20 or 30 yard gain, but he gets three or four yards everytime," said Stoltenberg of Moeller who has a 103-yard per game average.

Quarterback Rick Benedetto also pepped the Wildcat offense hitting five of 10 passes for 86 yards, while gaining 41 yards rushing. "That was the first time we had the same quarterback in for the whole game in the past three years," said Stoltenberg.

The Wildcats host Doane on Saturday. "Those first two games took a lot of wind out of our sails. But I think we're prepared for anything now," he

Broncos Unbeaten

Passing has always been a strong point at Hastings, but the defense has surfaced and helped the Broncos record the only unbeaten mark in state college

"Our biggest improvement has been the defense," said Hastings coach Wendell Maupin. "I'd have to say about 100% over last The line and backfield had outstanding performances in last Saturday's win over South Dakota-Springfield.

The line was responsible for two successful goal line stands in the second quarter, and the backfield picked off three South Dakota passes. Jim Weber intercepted a pass in the final minute to halt a South Dakota Alvarez Keying On Ogallala Game drive that might have tied the

"We've intercepted 10 passes in our first three games," said Maupin, "and four of those were picked off by transfer safety Doug Wilcox.'

Offensively, Maupin is pleased with the blossoming of the running game. "We've always been known for passing, due to our quarterback Rod Schultz and receivers like 6-4, 230-pound Bob Squires and 6-4, 190pound Dave Durrin," he said. "But every team we've faced this year has double covered them and our running game has opened up."

Ted Schroeder, who gained more than 100 yards and scored twice in the South Dakota game is partially responsible for the Bronco running success.

Other Games

Kearney State finally got 10 points on the board in the fourth quarter to nip Fort Hays, 10-7. The Antelopes were inside the Fort Hays' 30-yard line seven times before scoring.

Doane College ripped through the Tarkto defense for 243 yards rushing and a 14-0 win. The Tigers defense also ignited, holding the Owls to just 82 yards rushing and 38 yards passing.

A two-point conversion attempt that failed turned out to be the difference between Dana and Westmart, as Dana suffered its 22nd loss in a row, 16-14.

Jerry Fort wasn't disappointed he was bypassed at the Pan American trials - he was just honored to be there.

"No, I wasn't really upset at not making the final 15. I got a lot of exposure with pro scouts and helped get ready for this season," said Nebraska's 6-3 guard who has paced the Huskes in scoring for three seasons.

'There were a lot of great players there — Leon Douglas (6-10 Alabama center) Rudy White (Arizona State guard), Norm Cook (a Kansas standout who was chosen one of the top 15) and Chuckie Williams (from Kansas State) Ford said.

The 66 players and numerous coaches assembled in Salt Lake City in early June for the week-long trials.

Hard Work But it wasn't all fun and games.

"They really made us work there," Fort said. "They had tough practices and really put us through a lot of drills. Those practices were every bit as tough as the ones here (under Nebraska coach Joe Cipriano)."

Among the scouts there were K.C. Jones, coach of the Washington Bullets and Portland coach Lenny Wilkens.

"I tried to evaluate what my strengths and weaknesses were against those players," he said. "That kept me busy playing against that top competition. I just tried to work as hard as I could. It would have been nice to make the top 15, but I learned a lot from playing there for a

Husker Frosh Open Friday

Jim Ross, Nebraska freshman football coach, calls his 1975 Husker team "typical" of his seven previous squads. "We're real strong in some spots and weak in others," he told the Extra Point Club at its Monday luncheon at the Elks Club.

The Extra Point Club, incidentally, isn't a club as such there is no membership fee - and anybody can listen in and watch the game movies just by paying the $2.75 charge for the

The Husker frosh will open at 3 p.m. Friday against the Kansas State Jayvees in Manhattan, Kan. Under Ross, the freshmen have lost just two games while winning 22.

Ross plans to use two units both offensively and defensively, alternating them by quarters.

Whether it was in jest or not (you can't always tell whether Jim is kidding), he said, "I think we could give Indiana a pretty good ball game." The starting quarterback will be walk-on Tim Hager, who prepped at Southeast in Lincoln. Backing him up will be Mike

Kennedy, who was recruited from St. Augustine High School in LaMesa, Calif. Kennedy was the high school passer to another Husker recruit, Tim Smith. "He's an excellent football player," Ross said. Smith, who is a split end, also will do the punting and Ross called him "as good as we've had."

Depth At Fullback, I-back

The Huskers have three players at both I-back and fullback and Ross is enthusiastic about their ability.

"At I-back we have a walk-on from either North Carolina or South Carolina by the name of Isiah Hipp," he said. "If he runs as well as I think he can I'll find out which one."

Hipp is 6-0 and 190 pounds and has run a :09.7 in the 100 and he's from Chapin, South Carolina. He wasn't recruited by NU, but just decided he wanted to play in the Big Eight and Nebraska was his choice.

He's running with recruits Richard Berns of Wichita Falls, Tex., a big powerful back at 6-2, 200, and Mike Burton, 5-7, 170 scatback from Omaha.

Fullbacks are Dirk Bush from Riverton, Wyo., and Mike Washington from Lincoln High, both recruits, and walk-on Keith Steward from Steubenville, O.

The wingback position players for the opener will be recruit Greg Suelter of Ord and walk-on Kevin Wilkinson of Alliance.

Many Line Prospects

Four offensive linemen are highly regarded by Ross, who said Barney Cotton of Omaha, John Havekost of Scribner, Keith Bishop of Midland, Tex., and Mark Stroh of Omaha are "as good offensive linemen as we've had since I've had the freshmen.'

There also is depth in the defensive line with the likes of Bill Barnett of Alton, Minn., Oudius Lee of Omaha, Mark Goodspeed of Leawood, Kan., and Rod Horn of Fresno, Calif.

Ross also believes he has uncovered a middle guard who was recruited by the Huskers as a linebacker and defensive end. His name is Lawrence Cole of Dayton, O.

"He was a defensive end until last week when we ran out of middle guards," Ross said. "We put him at middle guard and he has looked good there. He's very aggressive and very quick."

Monster man is Bill Holmes, who played on Lincoln East's 1974 state champiaonship squad. Ross called him "probably the outstanding defender and a very good prospect."

Safetyman John Ingram of Omaha reminds Ross of George Kyros and Jimmy Burrow when they were freshmen. "He's a pretty good football player, not very big (5-9, 160), but very aggressive and he will hit people."

Wavne State football coach year. Del Stoltenberg was wondering how Midland could take a 16-6 lead from the Wildcats, with just minutes left to play.

"After our first two games, in which I saw us lose late in the game, I was just thinking how we could lose this one," said Stoltenberg, whose team snapped Midland's 15-game winning streak that stretched over three years.

"But I guess our pride came through," Stoltenberg said. "We knew we were better than we showed in our first two games, (a 15-13 loss to Northern State and a 28-14 decision to William Penn).'

The Wildcat defense also proved better than expected holding the powerful Warrior wishbone, which had averaged 336 yards in its first two games, to just 108 yards.

The Wayne defense also forced three Midland fumbles and one interception, which set up the winning touchdown.

Brian Moeller, a senior tailback boosted the offense, as he roared for 127 yards and two touchdowns. "He's our Mr. Consistent, said Stoltenberg. "He doesn't break for the 20 or 30 yard gain, but he gets three or four yards everytime," said Stoltenberg of Moeller who has a 103-yard per game average. Quarterback Rick Benedetto also pepped the Wildcat offense hitting five of 10 passes for 86 yards, while gaining 41 yards rushing. "That was the first time we had the same quarterback in for the whole game in the past three years," said Stoltenberg.

The Wildcats host Doane on Saturday. "Those first two games took a lot of wind out of our sails. But I think we're prepared for anything now," he

Broncos Unbeaten

Passing has always been a strong point at Hastings, but the defense has surfaced and helped the Broncos record the only unbeaten mark in state college

The line and backfield had outstanding performances in last Saturday's win over South Dakota-Springfield.

The line was responsible for two successful goal line stands in the second quarter, and the backfield picked off three South Dakota passes. Jim Weber intercepted a pass in the final minute to halt a South Dakota drive that might have tied the

"We've intercepted 10 passes in our first three games," said Maupin, "and four of those were picked off by transfer safety Doug Wilcox.

Offensively, Maupin is pleased with the blossoming of the running game. "We've always been known for passing, due to our quarterback Rod Schultz and receivers like 6-4, 230-pound Bob Squires and 6-4, 190pound Dave Durrin," he said. 'But every team we've faced this year has double covered them and our running game has opened up.'

Ted Schroeder, who gained more than 100 yards and scored twice in the South Dakota game is partially responsible for the Bronco running success.

Other Games

Kearney State finally got 10 points on the board in the fourth quarter to nip Fort Hays, 10-7. The Antelopes were inside the Fort Hays' 30-yard line seven times before scoring.

Doane College ripped through the Tarkto defense for 243 yards rushing and a 14-0 win. The Tigers' defense also ignited, holding the Owls to just 82 yards rushing and 38 yards passing.

A two-point conversion attempt that failed turned out to be the difference between Dana and Westmart, as Dana suffered its 22nd loss in a row, 16-14.

Pan American Trials Help Fort Prepare For Season

By MARK GORDON Star Sports Writer

Jerry Fort wasn't disappointed he was bypassed at the Pan American trials — he was just honored to be there.

'No, I wasn't really upset at not making the final 15. I got a lot of exposure with pro scouts and helped get ready for this season," said Nebraska's 6-3 guard who has paced the Huskes in scoring for three seasons.

"There were a lot of great players there -Leon Douglas (6-10 Alabama center) Rudy White (Arizona State guard), Norm Cook (a Kansas standout who was chosen one of the top 15) and Chuckie Williams (from Kansas State)"

The 66 players and numerous coaches assembled in Salt Lake City in early June for the Hard Work But it wasn't all fun and games.

"They really made us work there," Fort said. "They had tough practices and really put us through a lot of drills. Those practices were every bit as tough as the ones here (under Nebraska coach Joe Cipriano).'

Among the scouts there were K.C. Jones, coach of the Washington Bullets and Portland coach Lenny Wilkens.

"I tried to evaluate what my strengths and weaknesses were against those players," he said. "That kept me busy playing against that top competition. I just tried to work as hard as I could. It would have been nice to make the top 15, but I learned a lot from playing there for a

The slugging Pittsburgh Pirates clinched their fifth National League East Division title with an 11-3 romp over the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night as Richie Zisk and Dave Parker drove in four runs each

The victory was the 15th in the last 22 games for the Pirates. who will face the West Division champion Cincinnati Reds in the National League playoffs The Bucs took a 1-0 lead in the first on Richie Hebner's RBI singla and got three more runs in the fourth when Al Oliver doubled. Stargell singled for one run. Zisk doubled for another and Parker singled Zisk home

Zisk and Parker each singled home a run in the seventh, while Zisk had a two-run double Parker a two-run homer in the five-run eighth

League the Houston Astros beat the Cingings P. Astros beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-1 and the St Louis Cardinals topped the Montreal Expos 6-4 in 12 innings in the opener of a twi-night Mch doubleheader

Los Angeles was at San Diego on the West Coast

In American League action. the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees 6-4 the Kansas City Royals nipped the Texas Rangers 2-1 and the Cleveland Indians edged the Milwaukee Brewers 7-6

In West Coast American League games Chicago was at California and Minnesota at Oakland

Joe Niekro pitched a four-hitter Cesar Cedeno belted a threerun homer and Cliff Johnson smacked a two-run shot for the Astros

Ted Simmons two-run homer in the 12th inning gave St. Louis its opening-game victory over Montreal

Denny Dovle's two-run badhop single capped a three-run Boston rally in the sixth inning that carried the Red Sox to a 64 victory over the Yankees

Boston now leads the Ameri can League East Division by four games over the idle Baltimore Orioles and reduced to four the Red Sox' pennantclinching number Any combination of four Boston victories or Baltimore losses will insure the Red Sox of their first division title since 1967 Boston has six games remaining Baltimore

Pinch hitter Oscar Gamble's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth inning lifted Indians past Milwaukee after George Scott's second home run of the game and 33rd of the season had given the Brewers a 6-5 edge in the top half of the inning

Tony Solaita's double and Cookie Rojas pinch-hit sacrifice in the eighth inning gave Kansas City its victory behind the eight hit pitching of Al Fitzmorris 16-11

Improvement in pensions, salary minimums, life and medical insurance and changes in the controversial option rule were offered to the NFL Players Association and drew an immediate disgruntled response from association president Kermit Alexander.

The change in the option rule, one of the major points drawing criticism from the players, would prohibit any player with four years of experience from being awarded to another club by commissioner Pete Rozelle under the so-called Rozelle Rule. The rule provides that a team be compensated for losing a player who has played out his option and who signs with another

National Football League players and management representatives broke into separate caucuses Monday night after a four-hour joint meeting failed to produce a settlement in their negotiations for a new player contract.

Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., sponsor of legislation to impose a permanent television anti-blackout ban on pro sports, criticized the NFL stand on blackouts. He and Richard Wiley, chairman of the FCC, who backs the proposal agreed Wiley said that bad weather and league standings cause more sports fans to stay home during pro football games than do local television broadcasts of the contests.

New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath is suffering from a swollen right knee incurred in Sunday's loss at Buffalo.

The Detroit Lions claimed speedy wide receiver Jon Staggers, formerly of Missouri, on waivers from the Green Bay Packers.

The football program at Jacksonville State University in Jacksonville, Ala., has been placed on probation for one year and penalized by Gulf South Conference commissioner Stanley Galloway.

The New York Nets have acquired Tim Bassett from the San Diego Sails for guard Bobby Warren in an ABA deal.

Although veteran forward Dan Issel was traded to the Baltimore Claws Friday, his attorney says he is still a member of the Kentucky Colonels and will report for the opening of their pre-season practice Wednesday.

OTHER SPORTS

Martina Navratilova, the world's No. 2 ranked woman tennis player, announced Monday she has signed a three-year contract "in the neighborhood of $300,000" to play for the Cleveland Nets of World Team Tennis.

National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell announced fines totaling $9.050 against players of four NHL teams for bench-clearing incidents Sunday at two exhibition games. In the game between the Philadelphia Flyers and the Montreal Canadiens, 332 minutes of penalties were assessed and in the Boston Bruins-Chicago Black Hawks game, 214 minutes in penalties. Campbell said he is reviewing both incidents and there is a possibility further disciplinary action will be taken.

Veteran right winger Brian McDonald was sent home when he failed to pass a physical as the Indianapolis Racers opened their WHA training camp. Veteran Julius Boros won the $20,000 Florida PGA championship by three strokes in a tournament dominated by the seasoned tour pros. Racing stewards at Bowie suspended two jockeys named as unindicted co-conspirators in the federal race-fixing case that led to the convictions of four other jockeys. A dead heat for fourth place in the sixth race at Hazel Park

Monday resulted in a first for a payoff for holders of winning Superfecta tickets — both the 6-1-2-9 and 6-1-2-10 combinations Muhammad Ali, who said his July 1 heavyweight title defense against Joe Bugner would be his last, but later changed his mind, announced that he will fight only one more time after he meets Joe Frazier in Manila Oct. 1.

Pirates Clinch Division

By The Associated Press The slugging Pittsburgh Pirates clinched their fifth National League East Division title with an 11-3 romp over the Philadelphia Phillies Monday night as Richie Zisk and Dave Parker drove in four runs each.

The victory was the 15th in the last 22 games for the Pirates. who will face the West Division champion Cincinnati Reds in the National League playoffs.

The Bucs took a 1-0 lead in the first on Richie Hebner's RBI singla and got three more runs in the fourth when Al Oliver doubled, Stargell singled for one run, Zisk doubled for another and Parker singled Zisk home. Zisk and Parker each singled home a run in the seventh, while Zisk had a two-run double Parker a two-run homer in the five-run eighth.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros beat the Cincinnati Reds 5-1 and the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Montreal Expos 6-4 in 12 innings in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Los Angeles was at San Diego on the West Coast.

In American League action, the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees 6-4, the Kansas City Royals nipped the Texas Rangers 2-1 and the Cleveland Indians edged the Milwaukee Brewers 7-6.

In West Coast American League games, Chicago was at California and Minnesota at Oakland.

Joe Niekro pitched a four-hitter. Cesar Cedeno belted a threerun homer and Cliff Johnson smacked a two-run shot for the

Ted Simmons' two-run homer in the 12th inning gave St. Louis its opening-game victory over Montreal.

Denny Doyle's two-run, badhop single capped a three-run Boston rally in the sixth inning that carried the Red Sox to a 64 victory over the Yankees.

Boston now leads the American League East Division by four games over the idle Baltimore Orioles, and reduced to four the Red Sox' pennantclinching number. Any combination of four Boston victories or Baltimore losses will insure the Red Sox of their first division title since 1967. Boston has six games remaining, Baltimore

Pinch hitter Oscar Gamble's two-run single in the bottom of the ninth inning lifted Indians past Milwaukee, after Georg Scott's second home run of the game and 33rd of the season ha given the Brewers a 6-5 edge the top half of the inning.

Tony Solaita's double an Cookie Rojas' pinch-hit sacr fice in the eighth inning gav Kansas City its victory behin the eight-hit pitching of Al Fitz morris, 16-11.

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Football Coach Bud Moore of Kansas was all aglow Monday over

Mike Butler. Butler, a defensive tackle, was one of the big reasons the Jayhawks were able to unset Kentucky 14-10 Saturday.

"Without Mike," said Moore, "we couldn't have won the game. He made great plays and displayed a great effort time after time. In all the years I've been coaching, I never coached a player who was more deserving to be honored."

As a result of his performance, Butler was named Big Eight Conference defensive player of the week. He won out by a split vote of a panel of sports writers over Oklahoma's Jimbo Elrod.

Butler nade nine unassisted tackles in the first half. After that, Kentucky ran its plays away from Butler.

Elrod, an end, had 17 tackles in Oklahoma's 46-10 triumph over Pittsburgh, including five behind the line for losses totaling 30 yards. He also recovered two fumbles, caused another and broke up a pass.

"He played as well as any end we've ever had," Sooner Coach Barry Switzer said of Elrod. "He

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York — Under current banking practices, it is next to impossible to discover which savings institution will pay you the most for your money.

It's not enough to know the passbook savings rate although that's a key factor. Nor is it enough to know how often your interest is compounded. Several years ago, a graduate student at Kansas State University found that banks offering the same interest rate, and compounding at the same frequency, could vary as much as 171% in the amount of interest paid on a sample account.

This situation still holds true. There are more than 50 ways of computing interest now in use in the banking community.

But you could easily choose among them if Congress would get moving on the truth-insavings bill that's been lying around the hearing rooms for three years.

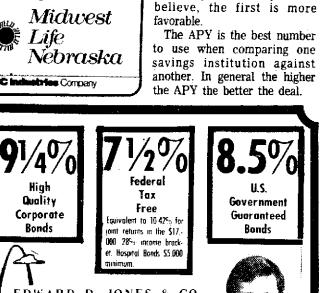

It requires savings institutions to tell consumers the true interest rate they're getting on

Copy costs getting out of hand? Get a duplicator.

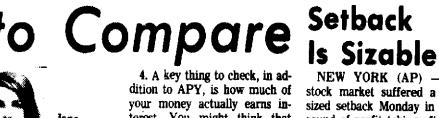

Copiers are fine when you want a copy or two of an original good and quick. But for anything from 10 copies and up, your best bet is a duplicator. Just snap on a master and it prints your letters, bulletins, invitations or catalog sheets for less than 1¢ per copy. Which makes it one of the best and fastest ways to cut costs. So come in and let's talk duplicators and the big savings you have coming. Since we make more duplicators than anybody (and more different kinds). We can needs and budget.

terest. You might think that every dollar there is hard at work, but that is true only where interest is paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal. Under other methods of calculatheir money, and how that rate tion, part of your money won't is applied. It insists that banks be earning anything. disclose, in lucid language, all

For example, many banks pay interest only on the "lowest balance" you have in the account. That means that if you started out the quarter with $500, drew it down to $100, then built it up to $500 again, interest would be paid as if you had kept only $100 in the account for the entire period. Another method unfavorable to a person with an active account is FIFO ("first in. first out"), which tends to deprive you of interest earned on deposits made early in the quarter. The best you can do is interest paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal (not be confused with the less favorable "day of deposit to end of interest period," a confusing phrase used by some banks. The next most favorable is generally LIFO ("last in, first out").

5. Penalties and bonuses can substantially affect your rate of interest. A bank might charge a fee if you make too many withdrawals, or pay a bonus for leaving your account untouched. There may be "dead days" at the end of the quarter when no interest is paid; or "grace days" at the start, which count deposits made within the first 10 days as if they were in on the first. Some institutions pay no interest at all on deposits withdrawn before a certain date. When you ask about these details, you may find that not even the employes of the bank, S&L or credit union know exactly how their institution figures interest. Some places disclose some of this information on the form you sign when you open your account, but many others tell you nothing.

A final point: when the bank makes a mistake, you'll probably never be able to find it because to calculate what your interest should have been, you need something called the "periodic percentage rate," plus instructions on how to use it. The truth-in-savings bill would straighten out this problem, too if Congress would just get around to passing it.

Stock Mart Setback

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market suffered a goodsized setback Monday in a late round of profit taking after last week's sharp gains.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 30.74 points over the previous two trading days, fell back 9.39 to 820.40.

Declines outnumbered advances 789 to 590 among the 1,-787 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange after trailing for most of the session.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .39 to 45.14, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was down .81 at 85.07. Big Board volume tapered off to 14.75 million shares from Friday's two-month high of 20.83 million. Brokers saw the background of economic news as largely

There was continuing enthusiasm, for example, over the Labor Department report Friday that the rise of its consumer price index slowed to a 2.4 per cent annual rate in August, compared with 14.4 per cent the month before.

At midafternoon the government listed a .3 per cent rise in durable goods orders last month. The increase, although smaller than July's 4.9 per cent jump, brought the level of orders to its highest point since last November.

There was also a Conference Board survey showing a pickup in optimism among consumers.

But the market, after a brief and mild early advance, settled into a mixed pattern late in the

And disappointed traders evidently moved in to take profits as the session wore on. The Dow was off only a little more than a 2 points at midafternoon but downward pressure intensified at that point.

Xerox paced NYSE actives, down 3% at 53% in trading that included a 248,600-share block at 54<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>. The company announced immediate price cuts on most of its copiers and duplicators, with rental fee reductions slated beginning Jan. 1.

Other actively traded glamors hit by profit taking included Polaroid, down 11/8 at 331/4; National Semiconductor, off 1% at 40%; Fairchild Camera, 11/2 lower at 49½, and Johnson & Johnson, down 134 at 821/2.

Eli Lilly tumbled 7½ to 54 The company projected flat 1975 earnings instead of the gain expected earlier because of higher manufacturing costs.

And the Wall Street Journal reported that the Food and Drug Administration was reconsidering possible stiff controls on the drug propoxyphene, Overtime Law trols on the drug propoxyphene, which Lilly markets under the brand name Darvon.

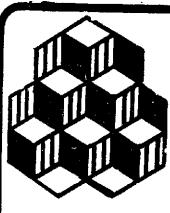

MCA rose 2 to 78<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> and G. P. Putnam's Sons jumped 4% to 16% on the American Stock Exchange. The companies have agreed in principle on a merger, with an exchange of stock in the ratio of one MČA share for four Putnam's shares.

81% failed to reveal what por-

Lacking such a bill, here are some guidelines that will at least

get you close to the top interest

1. The passbook rate is the easiest thing to check. "You're usually throwing away money or a credit union at 6%. Possible exceptions: If your savings entitle you to a free checking account at the commercial bank,

you might save more on checks

2. The more often interest is compounded, the more money

you make. Daily compounding pays more than quarterly, which pays more than semi-annually.

(Continuous compounding pays more than daily, but only pen-might be lost.

By JANE BRYANT QUINN New York - Under current banking practices, it is next to impossible to discover which savings institution will pay you the most for your money.

It's not enough to know the passbook savings rate although that's a key factor. Nor is it enough to know how often your interest is compounded. Several years ago, a graduate student at Kansas State University found that banks offering the same interest rate, and compounding at the same frequency, could vary as much as 171% in the amount of interest paid on a sample account.

This situation still holds true. There are more than 50 ways of computing interest now in use in the banking community.

But you could easily choose among them if Congress would get moving on the truth-insavings bill that's been lying around the hearing rooms for

It requires savings institutions to tell consumers the true interest rate they're getting on

Copiers are fine when you want a copy or two of an original good and quick. But for anything from 10 copies and up, your best bet.is a duplicator. Just snap on a master and it prints your letters, bulletins, invitations or catalog sheets for less than 1¢ per copy. Which makes it one of the best and fastest ways to cut costs. So come in and let's talk duplicators and the big savings you have coming. Since we make more duplicators than anybody (and more different kinds). We can recommend one to fit your needs and budget.

4. A key thing to check, in addition to APY, is how much of work, but that is true only where interest is paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

Under other methods of calculation, part of your money won't

For example, many banks pay interest only on the "lowest balance" you have in the account. That means that if you started out the quarter with $500, drew it down to $100, then built it up to $500 again, interest would be paid as if you had kept only $100 in the account for the entire period. Another method unfavorable to a person with an active account is FIFO ("first in,

first out"), which tends to deprive you of interest earned on

The best you can do is interest paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal (not be confused with the less favorable "day of period," a confusing phrase used by some banks. The next most favorable is generally LIFO

5. Penalties and bonuses can substantially affect your rate of interest. A bank might charge a fee if you make too many withdrawals, or pay a bonus for leaving your account untouched.

There may be "dead days" at the end of the quarter when no interest is paid; or "grace days"

at the start, which count

deposits made within the first 10 days as if they were in on the

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up 30.74 points over the previous two trading days, fell back 9.39 to 820.40.

Declines outnumbered advances 789 to 590 among the 1,-787 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange after trailing for most of the session.

The NYSE's composite index slipped .39 to 45.14, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index was down .81 at 85.07.

Big Board volume tapered off to 14.75 million shares from Friday's two-month high of 20.83 million.

Brokers saw the background of economic news as largely

There was continuing enthusiasm, for example, over the Labor Department report Friday that the rise of its consumer price index slowed to a 2.4 per cent annual rate in August, compared with 14.4 per cent the month before.

At midafternoon the government listed a .3 per cent rise in durable goods orders last month. The increase, although smaller than July's 4.9 per cent jump, brought the level of orders to its highest point since last November.

There was also a Conference Board survey showing a pickup in optimism among consumers.

But the market, after a brief and mild early advance, settled into a mixed pattern late in the And disappointed traders evidently moved in to take profits as the session wore on. The Dow was off only a little more than a 2 points at midafternoon but downward pressure intensified at that point. Xerox paced NYSE actives, down 3% at 53% in trading that included a 248,600-share block at 54½. The company announced immediate price cuts on most of its copiers and duplicators, with rental fee reductions slated beginning Jan. 1.

Other actively traded glamors The APY is the best number because to calculate what your hit by profit taking included Polaroid, down 11/8 at 331/4; Na-40%; Fairchild Camera, 11/2 lower at 49½, and Johnson & Johnson, down 13/4 at 821/2. Eli Lilly tumbled 71/2 to 54.

The company projected flat 1975 earnings instead of the gain expected earlier because of higher manufacturing costs.

And the Wall Street Journal reported that the Food and Drug Administration was reconsidering possible stiff controls on the drug propoxyphene, which Lilly markets under the brand name Darvon.

MCA rose 2 to 781/4 and G. P. Putnam's Sons jumped 41/8 to 16% on the American Stock Exchange. The companies have agreed in principle on a merger, with an exchange of stock in the ratio of one MCA share for four Putnam's shares

THERE ARE SIX CUBES, RIGHT?

It depends. Stare at them for a few seconds and the 6 cubes suddenly become 7. It's just a visual illusion. MUZAK is like that. It's what you might call an aural illusion. It sounds like music, but it's actually a scientifically conditioned musical environment. One that people don't really listen to, but react to psychologically and physiologically. Companies all over the world, large and small, use MUZAK as a programmed musical climate to motivate people and increase their efficiency. It is easily one of the most effective, low-cost management tools you can use to stimulate your employees to greater production.

We can show you precisely how MUZAK can work for you most profitably. No obligation at all. Incidentally, the cube illusion above is from MUZAKS booklet "Games Your Senses Play," which has many more puzzles and illusions to challenge you. # Porkers Set New Record

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)-Last Friday's all-time butcher top of $63.50 did much to draw a big porker run on the Omaha livestock market Monday, and despite the larger run, the market remained stable and another record was set.

The day's hog run was estimated at about 6,000 head.

Barrows and gilts trended steady to 50-cents higher in fairly active trade, top-grading butchers bulking from $63.00-

One short deck of 29 head averaging 225-pounds pulled the new market top at $63.60, knocking last Friday's top from the record books. The cattle run was also estimated at about 6,000 head. Steers and heifers traded fairly active, trending firm to 50-cents higher. Cows turned steady to There were about 1,200 sheep on offer. Spring slaughter lambs trended $1.00-to-$1.50 higher, with most of the advance on shorn offerings. Slaughter ewes turned steady.

Grain Futures Prices Tumble Chicago (AP) — Grain futures

prices tumbled Monday, but livestock futures closed on a steady to strong tone. Sovbeans fell the 20 cents-a-bushel limit, and soybean oil was down the limit of 100 points, or 1 cent a pound. Both declines were trimmed before the final bell, however. Soybean meal lost about $2.50 a ton. Oats, corn and wheat fell from about 41/2 to 61/2 cents a bushel. Iced broilers were uneven. Gold futures were expected to display a little strength on the opening because the London spot gold market had opened on Aug a firm to strong tone. However, support was lacking on domestic futures markets and prices moved almost steadily lower for the day.

Omaha (UPI) - A Douglas County district judge lifted his injunction against Omaha's Big Green lottery Monday, thus permitting Nebraska's first such operation to go into business Tuesday.

District Judge John Murphy ruled on a suit brought by Omaha attorney Martin Cannon against the City of Omaha and City Betterment Corp., formed solely for the lottery operation.

On Aug. 8, Murphy issued a bench injunction against the defendants, contending if the City of Omaha participated in the lottery such a move would be illegal. The judge further stated none of the lottery profits should be used to pay "promoters."

The Omaha City Council then backed out of the lottery, abolishing the resolution endorsing it along with the ordinances regulating lottery operations.

"It seems to the court that the City of Omaha has severed itself from operations of the lottery," Murphy said in his ruling Monday, "and this court has no authority to restrain the independent operation of the lottery by the City Betterment Corp."

Murphy cautioned, however, his ruling was outside the realm of deciding the

"illegality or the legality" of the lottery operation itself, but that the proceedings of his court would stand, at present, as precedent in the issue.

The Nebraska attorney general's office has issued an opinion questioning the constitutionality of certain lottery provisions, including the using of lottery proceeds to pay commissions to ticket sellers and banks as well as interest on loans. Cannon, along with his co-defense counsel, J. Michael Fitzgerald, Monday sought to prove the lottery was the same operation as it was when Murphy handed down his original injunction.

At one point late in the nearly three hour hearing, Cannon took the stand, contending City Attorney Herbert Fitle hadn't responded to Cannon's request Friday that Fitle go into court to question the lottery's constitutionality. Fitle, defending the City of Omaha, asked Cannon if he thought the state attorney general wouldn't enforce the laws pertaining to the lottery. Cannon responded that it was usually up to the city attorney and county attorney to enforce the ordinances of their respective jurisdictions.

Afterwards, Cannon said he would NAPE: State's Wage

Murphy's ruling "just to keep this thing going, but I think the judge probably was within the range of his discretion" in issuing the ruling.

In his ruling, Murphy mentioned "a number of political questions" surrounding the lottery, but "none of which this court feels are material to this determination."

Under questioning by Fitzgerald, Cannon contended Fitle advised the City Council to rescind the lottery resolution and ordinances because that was the only way to get the lottery into operation. When questioned on the issue by Fitle, Omaha City Councilman John Miller, an attorney, said "you never made any such statement to me, and I don't recall you using that terminology with someone else when I was present.

Miller and Councilman Steve Rosenblatt, who also testified for the city, said Fitle used words such as "divorce" and "wipe that slate clean" when referring to the city's separation from the lottery.

Transport Plan Work To Continue

Work on the transportation portion of the city-county Comprehensive Plan will go on, despite the tentative nature of new transportation guidelines.

The Technical Committee. composed of state, federal and local transportation experts, agreed to look at the new transportation policies which came out of a two-day energy

A subcommittee will see how these new policies affect previous work the Technical Committee has done on the transportation system for the city and county.

The transportation systems will show which roads will be major traffic carriers by the year

The Technical Committee also came up with an answer of sorts on the widening of Fremont St. Faced with an Oct. 1 deadline, the committee made recommendations on the number of lanes needed to carry traffic along Freemont St., but did not recommend road or lane widths.

The lane recommendations varied from a residential street (which is normally 26 feet wide) to four lanes of traffic if Fremont is to be continued on Lincoln's arterial system.

The final decision on Fremont lies with the City Council,

District Court Clerk Peck Will Be U.S. Magistrate

Present clerk of the U.S. District Court in Nebraska Richard C. Peck will be named U.S. magistrate, and his chief deputy, William Olson, will succeed him as clerk, it was announced Monday.

The moves will take place on Nov. 1, according to U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom, chief judge for the Nebraska federal court district. Peck will be the first fulltime magistrate in Nebraska. The state's federal judges hope that in his new role Peck will relieve judges of some duties, enabling them to speed the disposition of cases. Peck had been clerk of the federal court since 1959, a U.S. commissioner from 1965 to 1970 and a parttime U.S. magistrate since 1970. Olson has been chief deputy under Peck since a few days after Peck was appointed in 1959. Prior to that he spent 10 years as a deputy courtroom Deaths tie Blackburn, Marietta, Okla. Roper & Sons Mortuary, 4300

trict judge lifted his injunction against Omaha's Big Green lottery Monday, thus permitting Nebraska's first such operation to go into business Tuesday.

District Judge John Murphy ruled on a suit brought by Omaha attorney Martin Cannon against the City of Omaha and City Betterment Corp., formed solely for the lottery operation.

On Aug. 8, Murphy issued a bench injunction against the defendants, contending if the City of Omaha participated in the lottery such a move would be illegal. The judge further stated none of the lottery profits should be used to pay "promoters."

The Omaha City Council then backed out of the lottery, abolishing the resolution endorsing it along with the ordinances regulating lottery operations.

"It seems to the court that the City of Omaha has severed itself from operations of the lottery," Murphy said in his ruling Monday, "and this court has no authority to restrain the independent operation of the lottery by the City Betterment Corp.'

Murphy cautioned, however, his ruling was outside the realm of deciding the

"illegality or the legality" of the lottery operation itself, but that the proceedings of his court would stand, at present, as precedent in the issue.

The Nebraska attorney general's office has issued an opinion questioning the constitutionality of certain lottery provisions, including the using of lottery proceeds to pay commissions to ticket sellers and banks as well as interest on loans.

Cannon, along with his co-defense counsel, J. Michael Fitzgerald, Monday sought to prove the lottery was the same operation as it was when Murphy handed down his original injunction.

At one point late in the nearly three hour hearing, Cannon took the stand, contending City Attorney Herbert Fitle hadn't responded to Cannon's request Friday that Fitle go into court to question the lottery's constitutionality.

Fitle, defending the City of Omaha, asked Cannon if he thought the state attorney general wouldn't enforce the laws pertaining to the lottery. Cannon responded that it was usually up to the city attorney and county attorney to enforce the ordinances of their respective jurisdictions.

Afterwards, Cannon said he would

Kearney (UPI) - An energy task force has been formed on the Kearney State College campus and preliminary recommendations released Monday on how to conserve energy include one to move the summer break to

Dr. Floyd Krubeck, dean of the school of business and technology, is in charge of the task force. He said the group is working on both long and short range plans to combat the problem of ever increasing costs of decreasing energy Krubeck said he'd like to see energy usage on campus reduced as much as 10% to try to begin to compensate for an anticipated 20 to 30% hike in energy costs. A meeting is scheduled in two weeks to begin actually making formal recommendations on how to reduce con-

Steps like lowering temperatures in classrooms and dormitories are expected as well as a request for persons to turn off lights when not in use.

However, Krubeck said, other preliminary recommendations go a little further than that.

In addition to moving the long semester break from June to January, other preliminary recommendation of going to a four-day school week.

Kearney (UPI) - An energy task force has been formed on the Kearney State College campus and preliminary recommendations released Monday on how to conserve energy include one to move the summer break to

Dr. Floyd Krubeck, dean of the school of business and technology, is in charge of the task force. He said the group is working on both long and short range plans to combat the problem of ever increasing costs of decreasing energy

Krubeck said he'd like to see energy usage on campus reduced as much as 10% to try to begin to compensate for an anticipated 20 to 30% hike in energy costs.

A meeting is scheduled in two weeks to begin actually making formal recommendations on how to reduce consumption.

Steps like lowering temperatures in classrooms and dormitories are expected as well as a request for persons to turn off lights when not in use. However, Krubeck said, other preliminary recommendations go a little further than that.

In addition to moving the long semester break from June to January, other preliminary recommendation of going to a four-day school week.
